EXPERIENCE TEACHES, or ought to do so, and those who have thus learned are doubly to blame if they do not profit by the lesson.

If you want a reliable article choose one that has stood the test of years; and in many cases you also have the advantage of getting the improvements which all articles of mechanism are subject to as time proves the advantage or disadvantage of any particular part.

These remarks apply with great force to the WILLCOX and GIBBS AUTOMATIC SILENT SEWING-MACHINE, with its recent wonderful improvement of the Self-regulating Tension.

THE EASTER ENCAMPMENT.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN REPORTERS.)

HEAD-QUARTERS CAMP, WINDSOR FARM,
TUESDAY.

To-day's events afford but little substance for the war correspondents, although of some interest to the spectators, visitors, the camp, and to the volunteers themselves. The morning was again very foggy, and continued so until about 10 o'clock. Early morning parade was devoted to the usual drills, and a strong fatigue-party was engaged in clearing up the camp, and, when the men had finished their work, everything was admirably neat and clean. At a quarter past 11 o'clock a train arrived from Sydney, conveying a number of members of Parliament and other visitors. Amongst those who assembled on the ground were the Hon. F. A. Wright, Minister for Works, and Messrs. R. B. Smith, C. J. Roberts, C.M.G., Ed. Combes, C.M.G., Abigail, Withers, R. H. D. White, M'Quade, Poole, Chapman, Dr. Tarrant, Commodore Erskine, Colonel Legge, the commandant of the Tasmanian Defence Force, Sir Edward Strickland, K.C.B., and many friends of the officers. The Hon. A. Stuart, the Colonial Secretary, arrived in camp with Mr. M'Quade, at whose house he had stayed since the previous evening. The Ministerial party was received by the commandant and staff, and took up its position at the saluting point. The brigade was assembled for the march past, and the column marched across the park by the acting brigade-majors, Captain Mackenzie and Major Stokes, and then the Commandant, the Artillery, Engineers, 1st, 3rd, 4th, and 2nd Regiments marched as named. The brigades saluted as they passed the ensign. The dressing of some companies of the 2nd Regiment was bad. At the end of the parade ground the infantry counter-marched, and marched back in quarter-column, when the dressing was moderately good. A conspicuous feature during the movement was the irregularity of balance of rifles at the trail, all kinds of angles being observable. The troops were then divided for the attack and defence movements, which had been rehearsed yesterday. The Commandant took command of the attack, and Lieutenant-Colonel Wilkinson of the defence. Sixty rounds per man had been issued. The attacking column marched off to the open ground, followed by some of the Parliamentary visitors, who followed the movements in Mr. M'Quade's drag. The defenders were prepared to resist from the onset, and after a short period of quietness a few rifle shots near the railway told that the attack had commenced. The engagement was directed in much the same manner as that of yesterday, but as it proceeded, the right wing of the attack became drawn into an absorbing attempt to turn the left flank of the defence. This effort was made in strong force, but was met by bringing up the two guns of the camp party. These guns may have appeared slow in getting into action, and in their firing, but the object was to save the ammunition as long as possible to wait for the rush. The artillery fire held the enemy in check for a few minutes, but the overwhelming force of the enemy's infantry carried the day. Firing then stopped, and the troops went into quarters for dinner. Generally the men had worked well, taking deliberate aim, and firing steadily, but some of them blazed away very carelessly. The parliamentary and other visitors received by the staff were entertained at dinner in the staff mess-tent, the Commandant, of course, presiding. Mr. Stuart, the Colonial Secretary, sat on the Colonel's right, and Commodore Erskine on his left. The company at the table numbered about 50. After dinner the Commandant proposed the toast of "The Queen," which was duly honoured. Mr. Stuart then proposed the health of his Excellency the Governor, who, he said, had authorised him to apologise for his absence from the encampment, and would have been present if he had been in the colony. Colonel Richardson proposed the health of the Civil head of New South Wales, coupled with the name of the Commodore. He said that he and his officers had been much gratified that the Colonial Secretary had visited the camp. Both the Colonial Secretary and the Commodore had conveyed to him their expressions of satisfaction with the execution of the manœuvres and the physique and appearance of the men. This was a source of great gratification to him, because they had to cut their coat according to their cloth, and make the best of that same, which approached most nearly to that of regular soldiery. He acknowledged the close and ready support he had received from his staff and the officers. He regretted that there were not more members of Parliament present to examine the drill and training of the force, for they held the purse-strings, and had the right to see what was going on. There was more to be seen, however, than the field movements, and that was the interior economy of the force. The men were found able to feed themselves, and do all that was necessary for their own comfort in camp, and they had settled down to their work very steadily. The toast having been honoured, Mr. Stuart responded, and said that his fellow-legislators and he himself had been highly gratified by what they had seen, and if they had had any doubts as to the justifiability of the vote for military expenditure, these must have evaporated in the smoke of the cannonade which had just taken place. The best way of preventing invasion was to be ready for it; and although every man in the community, whether military or civil in his capacity, hoped the day was far distant when there would be war in this our peaceful land, each would recognise that the best means of saving ourselves was to be prepared for war. If ever the day should come, although we had the mother country to fall back upon, with its strong naval arm ready to be used in defence of the weaker parts of its dominion—that did not excuse us from preparing to defend ourselves. There must be self-help if we can ever have the claim to help from the mother country—(hear, hear)—and it was great satisfaction to himself and his colleagues to see that this country recognised its duty. They were prepared to aid her Majesty's Government by making Sydney a great naval port, and in this as well as in the manner in which the military forces discharged their duties, it was a matter of congratulation for the country generally. He hoped the desire to take part in the martial spirit might spread itself in the country, and did not think that the money spent was at all wasted. The time might come when we should have to rely upon ourselves, and as every great thing had a small beginning, they had begun a system of defence which might in due time attain the proportions of a good army. He thanked the company for the hearty manner in which they had honoured the toast, and it was satisfactory to him that there were present several gentlemen who were able to judge the work of the day. As a civilian he could not speak of the manner in which the various duties had been performed, but he was gratified to hear from qualified men, such as the Commodore, Sir Edward Strickland, and Colonel Legge, favourable opinions as to the way in which those duties had been carried out. (Applause.) Commodore Erskine, in replying, said that he had been much impressed with the appearance and behaviour of the men, and the way they had marched past was astonishing, considering the few days they had had for training. As the duty of these colonies was to protect their own shores, so England would protect the highways of the sea, and as a part of that duty this colony had provided Port Jackson, one of the most defensible ports in the world, with an adequate system of defence, and Mr. Stuart and his Ministry had had the honour of taking part in carrying out these measures. He believed that the establishment of a naval station in Port Jackson was a wise and politic step, and was carried with the sanction of the country, and he hoped that the colony would be at all times so prepared for war that it might at all times be sure of the blessings of peace. (Applause.) The Colonial Secretary then proposed "The health of Colonel Legge and Sir Edward Strickland." Colonel Legge, in responding, expressed his pleasure at being present at the manœuvres. He was much pleased with what he had seen, with the military bearing and steadiness of the men on parade, and with their physique. Their stature was greater than that of the men at home. He was especially pleased with the march past in quarter column, particularly with one regiment in which the company was unusually large. The artillery also moved very well, considering that their horses had been engaged for the time being only. Sir Edward Strickland then rose, and described the troops as the grandest he had seen in any colony. Their conduct showed the care that the officers and men must have taken, particularly in the artillery, to make those untrained cart-horses march past as they did, and also the training of the young recruits. He did not believe that the military system adopted by this country was the right one. It had been his fortune to have had the control and management of troops, and he was surprised to find that though these men might be got together, it was difficult to instil into them the true military spirit. The system here was too concentrative. The stockwhip should be laid aside and the rifle taken in hand. The young man should be trained up to have a military bearing, to have a thoroughly practical knowledge of the rifle, and to be able to turn out whenever he was required. It was the duty of every young man to learn how to fight and act as a soldier. He would divide the whole colony into military districts, and put over each district a proper commandant. The maintenance of a military training such as this would produce a military spirit which could be acted on by the sound of the bugle at any moment. So far as it went, however, he thought that Colonel Richardson deserved the thanks of the whole colony. He only wanted to see the present state of things enlarged and extended throughout the country districts. Mr. Stuart then proposed the health of the Commandant, and in doing so acknowledged the worth of that officer and his great devotion to the improvement of the forces. The Colonel Commandant briefly but expressively acknowledged the compliment. The party then broke up, and most of the company left for town. During the afternoon there was a little drill, but the chief attraction was the military sports meeting. This, however, was unfortunately spoilt by a thunderstorm, and its conclusion was postponed till to-morrow. The rain fell very heavily, and continued during the evening in broken showers. A number of visitors were left behind here this evening, having been misled as to the departure of the trains, and a special was telegraphed for which took them away at 9 o'clock. The Commandant staff, colonels and majors of regiments the clergymen who officiated for the force, and the representatives of the press were entertained at a very sociable dinner by Lieutenant-Colonel Goodlet and the officers of the 2nd Regiment. The officers on duty for to-day were—field officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Raymond; next, Lieutenant-Colonel Goodlet; adjutant and quarter-master, Captain Bartlett; the 2nd Regiment to furnish guards and piquets. The camp will break up to-morrow, when the Artillery will leave early in the morning, and the other corps will strike tents immediately after the second morning parade, and do the necessary fatigue work, leaving camp by train soon after dinner. A concession has been granted in the extension of passes for a few days to volunteers of the country corps. A number of photographic views of the Camp and of various scenes of interest were taken by Mr. Wood, of George-street, yesterday. The officers and non-commissioned officers and sappers of the Engineer Corps presented to their commanding officer, Major Rowe, a handsome field-glass, suitably engraved, on the eve of his departure for Europe on leave of absence. The sky is very cloudy to-night, but rain has ceased falling.

ARTILLERY CAMP, MIDDLE HEAD,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

The camp this afternoon was again thronged with visitors, the majority of them being ladies. With Messrs. Dibbs and Trickett, however, were a number of gentlemen who have friends among the officers in camp, and who were shown the routine of drill, and of life under canvas. Major Airey is field-officer of the day, and Lieutenant Savage orderly officer for the Permanent Artillery; and for the Volunteers Major Owen is the field officer; Captain Kirkaldy, captain of the day, and Lieutenant Pringle subaltern. This morning the somewhat intricate manœuvre of trooping the guard was performed. On Saturday it was done for the first time in the history of our Easter encampments, and in the meantime the Permanent and Volunteer artillerymen picked up the detail of the different movements so well that this morning they performed them very creditably. During the forenoon the Volunteers under Lieutenant-Colonel Wells were engaged in gun drill, and the subaltern officers of the Permanent and Volunteer Artillery were exercised by Master Gunner Tristram in repository drill. Tristram gave them elaborate and intelligible instructions in the processes of parbuckling, cutting, and mounting one of the big guns, and the young officers went to work with a will, and gained by experience a great deal of valuable knowledge, which they will have at some future time to impart to others. When the Ministerial party arrived in the afternoon they were shown over the camp, and as a finish a number of torpedoes were exploded off Cobbler's Beach. Three torpedoes, each charged with seven pounds of gun cotton, were let off simultaneously, and three others of similar power were discharged one after the other. The crowning sight of the day was to have been the explosion of a 250lb. charge contained in a canister as large as a quarter cask, but there was some defect in the fuse, and nothing could be done with the bottled-up earthquake. Elaborate preparations had been made for this experiment, and on the raft floating above the submerged torpedo two effigies, formed and painted to represent soldiers, were placed. One of them soon drooped despairingly forward, as though he preferred a watery to a fiery death, while the other one stood with his arms akimbo, and looked towards the electricians with an air of rakish defiance to them to do him harm, which was justified by the result, or want of result, of their attempts to send him skyward. The torpedo was at length towed ashore, and to-day, when it has been repaired, it will be exploded. Mr. Dibbs was the guest of the Permanent Artillery officers at dinner, and during the progress of the meal the band played a capital programme of marches and waltzes. Shortly after 5 o'clock a thunderstorm broke over the camp, and very heavy rain fell for an hour, the ground being fairly streaming with water. All the tents were dry inside and well trenched round, so the men will be little inconvenienced by the downpour. At intervals during the evening heavy rain fell, and so the projected shot practice by means of the Holophote lamps had to be foregone. The usual routine drills were carried out at night, and as some little latitude was allowed the men on account of their last evening in camp, the strident sound of the concertina, and the refrain of many a jolly song, were heard in every direction. The encampment has been in every respect an unprecedented success. Perfect discipline has been maintained; the Volunteers have improved in a marked degree through the continuous training they have received; the behaviour of the men generally has been most orderly, and the health of the camp has been good, Staff Surgeon Williams being called upon to treat only such minor complaints as sore throats. At 2 o'clock this morning there was a general turn out, and the signal was responded to so promptly that within 15 minutes of the time at which it was sounded the Permanent, Volunteer, and Torpedo Corps had been formed up and dismissed. With regard to a paragraph in my report of yesterday, which mentioned in general terms that the camp had been visited by improperly dressed and ill-behaved yachtsmen, I have now to state that the offenders have been ascertained to be, not yachtsmen, but persons who formed part of the crews of certain open boats, which, during Sunday afternoon, were brought alongside the Balmoral Jetty. The following Brigade orders were issued to-day:—The Volunteer Artillery and Torpedo Corps will parade at 12.15 p.m. on Wednesday to strike their tents and pack them up, and after dinner they will return their camp equipment into store, and clean up their lines. A steamer will be in readiness at Bradley's Head at 4 p.m. for the conveyance of the Volunteer Artillery to Dawes Battery, and the parade will be held at 3.15 p.m. The Newcastle Battery will return by the Newcastle Company's steamer leaving Sydney at 11 p.m. on Wednesday. The Wollongong contingent will go by rail to Campbelltown, and thence by coach. The Government steamer Ajax will leave Dawes Battery for Wollongong and Kiama on Thursday next, at 11 p.m. The Artillery Brigade Office will be transferred to Sydney on Wednesday afternoon, and the orderly officer for the day in camp on Wednesday will be Lieutenant Morris.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock at night shell practice and holophote experiments were carried on at Middle Head. Watson's Bay and the harbour in the direction of Sydney were swept by the light, and then it was focussed on a point at North Head a little to the right of the Quarantine Station. The rocks and breakers here were exposed, and 13 shells were fired at them from the inner Middle Head battery. The direction was good in every case, and the elevation of every shell but two was correct, so that the practice was accurate. Blank cartridge was fired from the outer Middle Head, the imaginary mark being a vessel which was proceeding leisurely up the harbour. The practice was witnessed by Mr. Dibbs and Colonel Legge, who will remain in camp to-night. It seems to be a pity that a small permanent torpedo corps cannot be established to attend principally to the plant in Sydney. The torpedo launches and the engines are at Middle Head.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Soon after 1 o'clock the gun was fired and there was a grand turnout. Mr. Dibbs had urged Colonel Roberts hours before to have the alarm given, but the Colonel then refused to do so, saying that the men were tired, and when the alarm was given Mr. Dibbs was awakened to find the Permanent men already formed up, and soon after he arrived on the parade ground the Torpedo Corps and volunteers were marched up in good order.

THE NAVAL VOLUNTEER ARTILLERY.

H.M.C.S. Wolverene, with the Naval Artillery Volunteers on board, left her anchorage in Broken Bay yesterday morning at 10.30, and returned to her buoy, off Woolloomooloo, at 3.45. The volunteers were exercised at cutlass drill on the way down. The trip throughout has been a most satisfactory one, the volunteers showing good proficiency in the various drills. Captain Taylor addressed the volunteers, and said that he was greatly pleased at the way in which they had behaved themselves.

THE LASKER EPISODE IN GERMANY.

Telegrams from Berlin to the American Associated Press, dated March 7, give the following abstract of the discussion on the American Congress condolence resolutions in relation to the death of Dr. Lasker, the German Liberal:—

In the Reichstag, after the President had been re-elected, that functionary announced the death of Lasker and other members during recess. The deputies remained standing while the announcement was being made.

Rickert (Independent), speaking, as he explained, on the order of the day, expressed thanks in the name of Lasker's friends for many tokens of sympathy received. He was particularly grateful to the American Congress for the action of the House of Representatives.

The President informed Rickert he was departing from the order of the day.

Hammerstein, in behalf of the Conservatives, protested against the action of Rickert and against the course pursued by the American Congress.

Dr. Hamel (Progressist) admitted that Rickert had passed outside the order of the day, but pointed out that this only showed a defect in the usages. He referred to Rickert's praise of the American Congress, whereupon the President reminded him that he too was departing from the order of the day, but he continued speaking. He said he had perhaps broken the rules, but he considered he was justified, and pleaded extenuating circumstances. "When a body like Congress," he said, "adopts flattering resolutions, we should pay as much regard to them as is consonant with Parliamentary usages."

Baron von Maltzahn contended that the rules of the House offered no ground for a statement like Rickert's for any reference to the resolution of a foreign Parliament not officially communicated to the Reichstag. He said the right of the House should be upheld. There was no defect in the rules of the House, but there was in the manners of the House, as was clearly proved by the fact that the Left had attempted to cry down Hammerstein's protest.

Rickert explained that the Left had interrupted Hammerstein because, contrary to the rules of the House, he had read his statement. The Left, he declared, cared as little for Hammerstein's protest as they did for the unjustifiable interference of Bismarck.

This declaration was followed by a great uproar. So soon as order was restored Von Battischer, Imperial Secretary of the Interior and representative of the Chancellor, said he knew absolutely nothing of any interference on the part of Bismarck. If the latter was requested to inform the Reichstag of the resolutions adopted by the American Congress, and did what he deemed right in the matter, his action was not subject to criticism. He concluded by protesting against any criticism of Bismarck.

Dr. Braun stated the rules of the Reichstag were based upon those of the Prussian Landtag, in which a eulogistic speech on the occasion of the death of Richard Cobden was ruled out of order.

Reichter, replying to Von Battischer, maintained that the Deputies have a perfect right to criticise the official acts of the Chancellor.

Dr. Miller (Progressist) began a speech by directing attention to the banner hanging in the hall, which had been presented to the Reichstag by the German Americans, but he was at once called to order by the President, and the discussion closed.

Rickert before the opening of the Reichstag had informed the different groups of the speech he intended to make. He said the speech had been drawn up after consultation with the leaders of the new party, and the members of the Centre promised not to intervene, but the Conservatives protested against his making the speech. It is generally regretted that Lasker's name was made the subject of a stormy discussion. The conduct of the President of the Reichstag is generally commended.

The Deutsche Tageblatt publishes an array of comments derogatory to Minister Sargent, made by certain American newspapers at the time of that gentleman's appointment.

The Tageblatt says Sargent will not be recalled until after the new President is elected, when, if possible, he will be appointed to St. Petersburg.

Herr von Eisendecker, the German Minister, said that he had just received from the German Government the resolution of condolence passed by the American Congress on the death of Herr Lasker, and would forward them, as well as an accompanying letter transmitted from Prince Bismarck, to the Department of State in a few days. He added that he had had no communication or understanding whatever with the Foreign Affairs Committee in regard to the matter. He proposed to deal entirely with the Department of State. The letter of Prince Bismarck returning the resolution, he said, had already been published in substance, but in addition it expressed Bismarck's regret that he felt compelled, under the circumstances, to return the resolution.

FILTH AND FAMINE IN GEORGE'S RIVER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Every person who is compelled to travel by rail to or through Liverpool must experience the stifling sensation caused by the sickening stench which warns him that he is in the precincts of some outrageous nuisance, but your graphic description of the alarming condition of the river reveals a state of things which, I think, few were prepared for, and which seems almost incredible in any civilised community, especially in a municipality; and now that public attention has been directed to the abomination (and for which you will be accorded universal thanks) it is to be hoped that not an hour may be lost in applying such remedy as may be possible. Otherwise it is seriously to be feared that some malignant epidemic may break out, which will probably decimate the town, and by passing trains carry the plague to Sydney, and then perhaps spread it all over the colony.

In England some years ago it was found that certain kinds of factories were fouling the streams. This led to the appointment of the Rivers Pollution Commission, a most useful body. They have spent, and are still spending, immense sums of public money in removing these offending trades to a more suitable locality, preventing the pollution of rivers, and endeavouring to purify the waters.

If, in the cold latitude of England, it is found necessary, in the interest of public health and convenience, to pay so dearly in order to rectify past mistakes and to undo what was allowed to be done, in ignorance at the time of their injurious consequences, surely in this warm climate, and with our eyes open, we have no excuse for allowing the same unfortunate and costly errors to be repeated, as we have been doing to a more dangerous degree.

How is it that in nearly all public matters, and especially those of a sanitary nature, we persist in ignoring the experience of the old countries, where art and science are better understood, and where vital lessons learned after years of patient practical labour are open to us? We are satisfied to begin where our forefathers commenced, and to go on blindly blundering through the same mistakes, paying the same or greater penalties. We seem to act for the present moment only, with no thought of its effects on the morrow.

It must surely have been on this principle that Mr. Stuart was advised to place the noxious trades and abattoirs on George's River. When two or three factories, which are not usually considered offensive, have caused such a fearful pollution as you describe, what would be the effect on the river if the combined filth of all the noxious trades and abattoirs were poured into it? Those who know the river are aware that nearly all the way from Botany Bay to Salt Pan Creek the stream is very broad, and opens out into many beautiful bays and reaches, with rather flat shores. Over this large spread the tide is slow, with very little scour. Therefore it is almost certain that, as in the case of the upper part of the river, the foul matter would never reach the ocean, but be floated to and fro by the ebb and flow of the tide. In six months the river would be an immense cesspit. All the shores, including Lady Robinson Beach, would be destroyed by the stinking scum, and the country would be called upon to settle the compensation bill. We should then, as in England, have to pay for undoing what cost so much to establish. No river or stream should be defiled by the noxious trades; the only place for them is on the coast, where the refuse can be discharged into the ocean; it will not pay to treat it otherwise. I am, &c.,

Sydney, 15th April. EDWARD BYRNE.

FENCING IN THE HARBOUR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I wish to call your attention to the manner in which some of the bays in and about Sydney are being enclosed and appropriated by the immediate residents for their own private use and delectation.

This is the case in a marked manner at Double Bay and Elizabeth Bay. The latter, less than one year ago, was open and free to the public; now, excepting the pier, it is enclosed as private grounds, with warnings to the public, who, if rash enough to ramble down that way, are looked upon as intruders by the select few of the neighbourhood.

If these encroachments are permitted to go on as they are going on, quietly unchecked, the time is not very far distant when all the beautiful bays within Sydney harbour will be fenced in and enclosed for the private use of the families and friends of those residing on their shores, and the public will be excluded altogether from what makes the neighbourhood attractive. This is nowhere permitted; and to save serious trouble in the future, I beg to call public attention to the subject, which is of great importance as affecting the rights of the community. I am, &c.,

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—TUESDAY.
(Before Mr. District Court Judge FORBES.)

RUNDLE V. BROINOWSKI AND ANOTHER.

This was an action brought by E. Ramsay, agent for the Hon. J. B. Rundle, against G. J. Broinowski and another for £25, a month's rent, due, it was alleged, on the 31st January with respect to Claremont, at Darlinghurst. Mr. Brennan appeared for the plaintiff; and Dr. R. Sly, instructed by Mr. Kent, for the defendants. Plaintiff relied upon a document in the nature of an agreement, which was produced. It was stated in the agreement that Mr. Broinowski and another were to become the tenants of the property, and pay rent at the rate of £300 per annum and rates and taxes. The defence was that the document which had been produced was not a lease, but merely an agreement for a lease, and that before the month of January the parties met and agreed to cancel the agreement. It was proved that prior to the month of January Mr. Broinowski called upon Mr. Ramsay, and said that as his partner in the transaction was not willing to complete the agreement, he therefore could not do so. His Honor held that the document relied upon was an agreement for a lease, and nonsuited the plaintiff.

SHERIDAN V. CITY CARRYING COMPANY.

The plaintiff, William W. Sheridan, sought to recover the sum of £70 11s., damages for certain breakages caused to a steam engine by the removal of it by the defendants in, it was alleged, a negligent manner.

Mr. O'Connor, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Laurence, and Jaques, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Rogers, instructed by Dr. G. J. Sly, for the defendants.

Plaintiff was contractor for certain work on the property of Mr. Bennett, at Rose Bay, and in order to execute the work required a certain engine (which was to be employed in conjunction with a Tiffin borer) had to be removed from Darling Harbour to Rose Bay. He employed defendants to remove the engine, which was conveyed on a trolly. Before the trolly reached the precise place where the machine was required it overturned, damaging the engine to such an extent that effecting the necessary repairs to it cost £49 11s. The plaintiff, not having proved that defendants were liable for damage done to the engine at the time the trolly overturned, was nonsuited.

T. H. DODDS V. MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF SYDNEY.

Action for the recovery of £18 15s. for work and labour done. Mr. Teece, instructed by Mr. Rofe, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Nash, instructed by Mr. Merriman, for the defendants. The plaintiff sought to recover the sum named for having received and inspected iron castings (on behalf of the City Council) at the Crown-street depot, from August 8, 1883, until January 24, 1884. The defence was that he was employed by the City Council as meter reader, and was not entitled to extra remuneration for the work which formed the subject of the action. Plaintiff was nonsuited.

TUESDAY.

FALSE PRETENCES.

W. Everett Stone was charged with having on the 12th of February of the present year, at Parramatta, obtained from John A. Fraser certain goods by means of false pretences. Mr. P. J. Healy, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared to prosecute, assisted by Mr. H. R. M'Culloch, instructed by Mr. J. H. Carruthers. Before the case was proceeded with prisoner demanded that the second charge against him on the record should be taken first—namely, that of breaking and entering—on the ground that if he succeeded in establishing a plea of partnership in connection with the second charge the first would fall to the ground. His Honor said that prisoner had no right to demand an alteration, and his application could not be conceded. The case, according to the evidence of the prosecutor, was very simple. It appeared that, on the 12th of February, prisoner went to the store of John Fraser, trading as Pratt and Fraser, at Parramatta, and asked him if he had any orders for Lewis and Whitty's goods. Mr. Fraser said he had not, and prisoner said that he was a traveller for the firm, and had about £1000 worth of their goods and could sell them cheap. After some conversation prisoner purchased goods to the value of 13s. 6d., and gave a cheque for £1 in payment, receiving 6s. 6d. in change. The cheque was afterwards presented at the City Bank and dishonoured. Prisoner had previously told Fraser that his name was W. E. Smith. John Whitehead, proprietor of the Sydney Parcel Delivery Company, was also called by the Crown, and swore that, although prisoner was at one time a clerk in his service, he was not a partner in and had no authority to draw cheques on behalf of the company. The witness was cross-examined at great length by the accused as to the transactions which took place between them while prisoner was in Whitehead's service, and as to the disappearance of certain account books, but the witness positively denied that prisoner acted in any other capacity than that of his clerk. The case for the Crown having closed, prisoner called a large number of witnesses, the majority of whom did not appear, mainly for the purpose of showing that in various transactions carried out by him on behalf of the Sydney Parcel Delivery Company, he had acted upon his own responsibility and as a partner, and that the cheque which he was accused of passing, was drawn in connection with the business of the company. Evidence was also called by the prisoner as to his character for honesty and business ability during the time he worked for the Sydney Parcel Delivery Company. The Crown, in reply, desired to give evidence as to a previous conviction against the prisoner prior to 1883; but to this the accused vehemently objected, contending that until the jury brought him in guilty such evidence could not be admitted. The Crown Prosecutor contended that the prisoner, having called witnesses as to his good character, he was entitled to call evidence on the other side. He, however, did not press the point, and the evidence was not given. At 4.30 prisoner addressed the jury, and continued speaking until 6.30, arguing, in the course of an ingenious and occasionally eloquent speech, that the evidence went to prove that a partnership existed between himself and Whitehead, and that in passing the cheque he was not guilty of fraud. The Crown Prosecutor having replied, his Honor summed up, and the jury retired at 7.20 to consider their verdict. At 8.12 they returned into Court, with a verdict of guilty. According to the gaol records prisoner was convicted on the 28th January, 1881, of attempting to obtain goods by means of false pretences, and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. Prisoner, upon being asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, again addressed the Court at some length. He asserted that one of the jurymen was an alien, and he wished that point to be reserved in his favour, and complained of the Crown Prosecutor taking the charge of false pretences before the other, thereby causing him inconvenience, and not giving him time to defend himself. He also called attention to the fact that 21 of his witnesses were absent. Prisoner was sentenced to five years' penal servitude. The charge of breaking and entering was withdrawn.

ASSAULT WITH INTENT.

John Lane, Francis Campbell, and Michael Mackay, who were convicted on Thursday last of assault with intent, were brought up for sentence. Upon being asked if they had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon them, prisoner Lane said that the other prisoners were not with him on the night when the offence was committed. Campbell and Mackay asserted that they were innocent of the charge, and as Campbell stated that he was prepared to call witnesses as to character, his Honor intimated that he would not sentence prisoners until to-morrow.

The Court adjourned till 10 a.m. to-morrow.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Clarke, S.M., sat in the Charge Court yesterday, and Mr. Abbott, S.M., in the Summons Court.

James Fisher, 27, a labourer, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for having offended against decency in an aggravated manner; and on a charge of having made use of obscene language in a public place he was ordered to forfeit the sum of £5, in default to undergo an additional term of three months' imprisonment.

Thomas Smith, Annie Foolman, Annie O'Rourke, Kate Speller, Mary Ellen Dwyer, Frederick Bremmer, Michael Ashe, Annie Wilson, and James Dunn were also each fined in the sum of £5, in default three months' imprisonment, for having used obscene language in public places.

Agnes Green was sentenced to six months' imprisonment on a charge of vagrancy.

Charles Brown was brought up on a charge of having maliciously cut and wounded his wife, Maria Brown, on the 8th instant. It appeared from the evidence that on the date in question the prisoner came to his home in Chamber-street, and quarrelled with his wife, the result being that he seized a knife, and with it stabbed her. He was committed for trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions.

WATER POLICE COURT.

In the Charge Court yesterday the bench was occupied by Mr. J. M. Marsh, S.M.

Francis Mooney, for using obscene language in George-street, was fined £5 or three months. Lawrence Davies, labourer, for behaving riotously in Mill-lane, was sentenced to seven days' imprisonment. Lizzie Smith, machinist, besides being punished for drunkenness, was fined £3, or one month, for using obscene language on the pier at Manly. Maggie Merton, servant, and Nellie Smith, dressmaker, for like offences, were similarly punished. John Lee, labourer, besides being punished for drunkenness on the Esplanade, Manly, was fined £5, or two months, for assaulting Constable Minogue in the execution of his duty. William Pritchard, labourer, besides being fined for bing drunk and disorderly in Market-lane, Manly, was fined £5, or two months, for assaulting Constable Barry in the execution of his duty.

Benjamin Lancaster and H. T. Love, for refusing to pay their proper fares by tram to Randwick Racecourse, were each fined 40s., or 14 days.

Mary Boyde, 70, found drunk at Rushcutter Bay, was ordered to be taken to the Benevolent Asylum.

In the Summons Court the bench was occupied by Mr. Addison, S.M.

On the sheets were 54 cases. Persons were punished for riotous conduct, leaving their vehicles unprotected, using abusive language, assaulting other persons, and permitting stock to stray; and John Bourke, who pleaded guilty to cruelly ill-treating a dog, was fined £2, with 7s. 6d. costs, or one month.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

John Goblett, for being drunk and disorderly in Miller-street, was fined 10s., or two days' imprisonment; and on a further charge of using obscene language in the same place was fined 40s., or one month's hard labour. On a third charge, assaulting Mary Johns, he was fined £4, or two months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

James Smith was ordered to pay John Wilson the sum of £7 10s. for wages, together with £4 10s. costs of Court, and 6s. for expenses of one witness, to be recovered by levy and distress.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

The City Coroner held an inquest at his chambers, yesterday morning, on the body of a man named John Hayes, who died in the Sydney Hospital from the effects of injuries received through falling down the hold of the steamer City of Melbourne on Saturday morning last. The evidence showed that on Saturday morning about half-past 7 o'clock the deceased, who was a fireman, went on board the steamer City of Melbourne, lying at the A. S. N. Company's Wharf, for the purpose of looking for work. The crew of the vessel were engaged in loading cargo at the time, and the deceased, who approached the forehold, was accidentally struck by a cask and knocked into the hold of the vessel. He was found to be considerably injured when picked up, and was speedily conveyed to the hospital, where he was admitted in a state of collapse. He died from the injuries he received late on Sunday night. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased died from injuries accidentally received.

The City Coroner also held an inquest, at the South Sydney Morgue, yesterday, on the body of a man named John Robert Englebert, who was found dead in bed at his lodgings, 82, Hunter-street, on Monday morning. Charley Propsting, ironmonger, residing at 82, Hunter-street, deposed that the deceased was between 30 and 35 years of age, and was a native of Tasmania; he was a single man and a chemist, and witness had known him for a number of years; witness last saw the deceased alive at about a quarter to 11 o'clock in Castlereagh-street on Sunday night; the deceased was then drunk, and was alone; he next saw him lying dead on his bed between 12 and 1 o'clock on Monday morning; the deceased and a man named Peters occupied the same room, but Peters, who was out, had not returned home when witness found deceased dead; when in Castlereagh-street the deceased had a small phial containing a sleeping draught in his possession, but witness took it from him, and afterwards gave the bottle to Dr. Foreman; on discovering the deceased witness went and secured the services of Dr. Foreman, who examined the deceased, and pronounced life to be extinct; he had known the deceased to take sleeping draughts frequently, in fact, almost every night; there were several bottles on a shelf in the deceased's room containing drugs; the deceased had been lately given to habits of intemperance. John Mackinn, articled clerk, residing at 82, Hunter-street, deposed that he had known the deceased about three months, and had occasionally seen him at night under the influence of drink; on Sunday night last he saw the deceased, who returned home about 11 o'clock, under the influence of liquor, and he accompanied him to his room; whilst in the room the deceased said he would have a drink, but witness saw nothing to drink in the room; he saw the deceased with a glass, and saw him looking for something on the shelf upon which there were several phials, and he afterwards saw that he had some liquid in his mouth; he asked deceased what he had taken, and he said, "Oh, all right; I know what I am doing." Witness went to get assistance for the purpose of putting the deceased in bed, and when he returned to the room he found him in a heavy sleep; with assistance they got him to bed and left the room. Alexander M'Norton Peters, registered pharmaceutical chemist and dispenser at the Prince Alfred Hospital, deposed that he resided at 82, Hunter-street, and had been occupying a room with the deceased; the deceased, who had been given to habits of intemperance, had been brought up as a chemist and druggist; he had been in the habit of taking sleeping draughts; the sleeping draught he usually used was chloral hydrate. Dr. George Renwick, who had made a post-mortem examination of the body, gave evidence to the effect that death was due to syncope; the post-mortem appearances were consistent with poisoning by chloral hydrate. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased died from an overdose of chloral hydrate taken by himself whilst in a state of intoxication, with a view to inducing sleep.

"In 1870 scrofulous ulcers broke out on my body, until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these ulcers were not less than 1 and 1½ inch in diameter, the edges rough, ragged, and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone, and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness. Could not turn in bed. Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 1880, after 10 years of this wretched existence, I began to use the Cuticura Remedies, and, after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer has healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast, where was once a mass of corruption, is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies.—JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.—Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. Crawford."—[ADVT.]

THE SILVER MINES IN THE BARRIER RANGES.

(From the Melbourne Age, April 14.)

It is not generally known that important work is being done by Melbourne capitalists in developing some silver mines located in the Barrier Ranges, New South Wales. The reports which have lately reached us indicate that there is a bright future in store for these mines, which are yet in their infancy. They have been opened about 10 years, but no prospecting worth speaking about was carried on until a few months since. The original prospectors, it seems, had very imperfect knowledge of silver mines, and really did not grasp the importance of their discovery. Want of capital appears also to have been another failing with them. At all events very little work was done on the ground, and the lodes imperfectly tested. Some months ago the value of these lodes was brought under the notice of several well-known Melbourne capitalists, who, after obtaining a report from an expert, thought so highly of the prospect that they formed themselves into a syndicate, and bought out all the old leaseholders in the district. This syndicate now holds about 1600 acres, and have started work in some of the old shafts, from which not only highly encouraging but really astonishing rich prospects have already been secured.

The Barrier Ranges are difficult to reach, owing to the absence of ordinary travelling accommodation, though the road is described as being much better than the average Australian bush track. The Silver Company is reached from Adelaide, partly by means of the train and partly by coach, the coaching journey covering a distance of 190 miles. The country through which the coach passes is purely a saltbush one, and in dry weather natural feed for cattle is scarce. The South Australian Government have provided water tanks or wells on the wayside about every 20 miles. Hitherto a great difficulty has been encountered in the heavy cost of transporting ore from the mines to the railway terminus at Terowie; but as the road is stated to be eminently suited for traction engine work, this mode of transit would considerably reduce the cost of carriage. The new town of Silver City is situated six miles east of the old border township known as Thackeringa. Mr. W. R. Fitzgerald Moore, M.E.C.E., who has fully reported to the Melbourne syndicate upon the silver and argentiferous galena mines in the Barrier Ranges, states that the hills in the vicinity of Silver Town, many miles to the north, slope to the east and west, and descend boldly to the plains of the great depression, which, with a few breaks, stretch to the sea on the west, and for hundreds of miles in an easterly direction, whilst their course of strike is almost in a due north line. They continue without a break until they sink under the great Queensland plains. The average width of the main range proper is, perhaps, about three miles, although no accurate main width can be arrived at because of very unusual variety of form. Numerous creeks take their rise in these hills and cut traversely through the valleys. During the wet season, or rather after a thunderstorm, the drainage which flows from both sides of the range is, as a rule, captured in the large tanks or dams belonging to the great sheep runs in the district. Although in some cases in the middle of these ranges the hills rise to considerable peaks, yet, from geological accidents, their summits deviate to one or the other side, but seldom, if ever, overhang the tableland in precipitous peaks, as the same class of formation is to be seen in many parts of the Sierra Nevadas. The valleys are seldom continuous for any great distance, but are divided by spurs of the ranges, which invade them from one side, and by low volcanic groups which push out from the other. From the summit of the highest hills may be seen vast stretches of saltbush country, appearing in the distance like great naked deserts, only varied by beds of saline efflorescence, from whence, in the blazing heat, columns of parched air whirl upwards, laden with acrid dust and drifting sand. It is almost impossible to conceive a prospect of more stern desolation than may be viewed from the crest of these ranges; indeed, the eye is only relieved by threads of green which skirt the watercourses.

Over the whole of this great mountain chain are found localities of the precious metals, and following their leading structural idea, they arrange themselves in parallel zones of a similar nature to those of the Cordilleras and California. Approaching the range by the south-west, the great talc schist formations crop out in wonderful profusion. The general strike in this part is about 30° west of north, and it is curious to see immense stretches of well-defined dioritic reefs cutting them at an oblique angle on their course to the north-east. Further to the north the range is composed of crumbled and uplifted strata, varied by immense barren quartz outcrops and gigantic dykes, and also by ancient eruptive rocks, which, no doubt, accompanied the upheaval. Where the section of the formation can be examined there can be seen folds of more or less complexity, twisted and warped by longitudinal forces, and often compressed into a series of zigzags of a wonderful nature. These are a few of the characteristics of the silver-bearing parts of the Barrier Ranges.

Silver-bearing ores were first discovered by a shepherd in the year 1876, whilst out with his mob of sheep on the range. He brought samples of the ore to some of the local magnates, but as their nature was little understood, the treasure lay undisturbed until a Mr. Green raised some of it with the intention of sending it to England; through some mishap in transit no returns ever came to Mr. Green. About 18 months ago, however, another lot of ore was shipped to England to be sold, this time with better results, though through inexperience the miners selected the lowest grade ores, viz., argentiferous galena, leaving out the rich sulphides of silver. They netted the handsome return of £7 per ton on the shipment, after the highest commissions and charges had been exacted. Miners who were working silver properties in those parts were all making money before they sold out. There is a great advantage in this class of mining, inasmuch as there is no machinery for the working of these ores necessary beyond the ordinary windlass or horsewhip; the ore is simply put into bags and shipped to England, thus saving all costly smelting and working in this country.

The mines of this district consist of two groups. The one at Silver City embraces eleven claims, in which the ore consists of sulphides of lead or argentiferous galena. The profits secured on these ores amount to £12 per ton. About eight of these mines are opened up, six of them to a considerable extent. There is one shaft down 130 feet, carrying the lode very strong in the bottom. The lode at this point gives indications of turning from sulphides of lead into sulphides of silver. Fifteen shafts have been sunk on different parts of these 11 mines, their depth varying from 30 feet to 75 feet, one being 130 feet. The lode is disclosed in each of these shafts, and found to be of a thickness varying from 1 foot to 3 feet. Some rich returns are now being obtained from these mines, the ore yielding, as above stated, a clear profit of £12 per ton.

The second and larger group of mines is situated at a distance of 28 miles from Silver City. They are called the Lakes Camp group. The ores here are purely sulphides of silver, and very rich. Two tons of ore recently sent to England for assay were sold for £600. Shafts have been sunk in many parts of the ground held by the syndicate, and ore has been discovered everywhere, but, of course, all of it is not of the richest quality. The shafts vary in depth from 10 to 75 feet. In one put down on a "big bonanza," the lode is found to be of enormous value (£300 per ton), and it is said that a great portion of the money paid by the syndicate for the entire ground has already been secured to them in profits from this one shaft. The lodes have all the appearance of permanency. In one shaft, the deepest of this group, the lode has been traced to the total depth, 75 feet, and at the bottom it is six inches thick, with indications of continuance and improvement. A great drawback to the rapid development of these mines is the scarcity of labour at Silver City. Much anxiety is also caused by the scarcity of water.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT at HOMEBUSH.

An accident of a shocking character occurred on the railway line yesterday afternoon, between 2 and 3 o'clock. It appears that a train had just started from the Homebush station when a Frenchman named Theodore Le Berte attempted to enter one of the carriages. The train, although in motion, was not going fast, but the unfortunate man in stepping on to the platform of the carriage slipped and fell between the carriages and the station platform. The train was stopped as speedily as possible, and the man was got out from underneath a carriage. He was found to be in a dying state, and it was resolved that he should be forwarded to Sydney at once. For want of proper appliances the poor fellow was placed upon an advertising-board, which had to serve the purposes of a stretcher. The accident was witnessed by a number of persons, some of whom were deeply pained—as they had reason to be—with the lack of provision made for the treatment and proper conveyance of persons so unfortunate as the man in question. Comments were freely made upon the matter. Only a few weeks have elapsed since the delivery of a course of lectures by Dr. Woodward specially intended to instruct railway employees as to the best means to be adopted in dealing with persons who have met with an accident. This is the first serious accident that has happened on the line since the delivery of the lectures referred to, and it would appear that the Department has failed in a most lamentable manner in furnishing the means whereby the instruction given could be turned to practical account. It was stated by the Commissioner and others who attended the lectures that each station on the line, and even the guard's van of each train, either was or was to be provided with necessary appliances in case of accident, so that Homebush must have been completely overlooked in the matter. Dr. Woodward, it may be stated, certainly recommended far better improvised methods of carrying the sick and wounded than that of placing a man with his life's blood dripping from him upon a hard advertising-board. The injured man, who was seen by Dr. Sinclair, expired shortly after he was picked up, and the body was placed in the train and brought on to Sydney, and has been placed in the South Sydney morgue, where it now lies awaiting an inquest. The deceased was an able-bodied man of about 35 years of age, and was cook on board the training-ship Vernon. He was a married man, and it is believed leaves a wife and family, who are in Melbourne.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

For the Australasian Insurance and Banking Record Mr. Alsop, the actuary of the Melbourne Savings Bank, has compiled a statement of the Savings Banks of the seven Australasian colonies. From this interesting document it appears that the total number of depositors was 365,828, and of deposits £10,304,144, equal to £28 3s. 3d. for each depositor. This is equivalent to about £3 8s. 8d. per head of the population, reckoned at 3,000,000, and compares favourably with £30,250,000 deposits, equal to £2 5s. 11d. per head of the population of Great Britain. It seems that there are twice as many depositors in Victoria as in New South Wales, the respective figures being 137,093 and 66,604; but the deposits in this colony, amounting to £2,805,855, very closely approximate to the figure for Victoria, which was £2,818,435, and showed an average per head more than double that of the larger colony. In New Zealand there were 69,966 depositors in savings banks, for a total of £1,687,788. A larger proportion per head than in Victoria; but a smaller one than New South Wales. In South Australia there were 46,388 depositors, of £1,500,248. In Queensland the total number of depositors was 26,642, the deposits being £1,086,885. In Tasmania the depositors numbered 17,231, and the deposits £380,343; and in Western Australia there were 1904 depositors and £24,838 deposits.

From the same paper we take the following figures showing the capital and profits of the twenty-eight banks of issue in the Australasian colonies for the last quarter of the years named:—

Capital paid up	£14,809,141	£15,223,089	£15,513,691
Reserved profits	5,126,619	5,508,724	6,016,662
Capital and reserved profits	18,529,531	19,532,617	20,730,102
Amount of half-yearly dividend	792,558	826,112	909,130
Average per cent. per annum on paid up capital	10 14 2	10 15 9	11 14 4

In the Import markets to-day very few transactions came under notice. There was a fair demand for breadstuffs, prices being without change, bakers' lines being quoted as follows:—Adelaide, £10 10s. to £10 15s.; South Australian country, at £9 5s. to £9 10s.; New South Wales, £9 to £9 10s.; Victorian, £9 to £9 5s. Prime samples of wheat are worth 4s. 3d. to 4s. 4d. Writing under date Adelaide, 10th April, the Adelaide Milling and Mercantile Company comment on the high rates asked by farmers for grain, having regard to the reductions of the price in England and the foreign prospects of supply. It is said that beyond a doubt the comparatively advanced rates which now rule resulted from the large number of vessels taken up on speculative account early in the season. To load some of these ships about 200,000 bushels were purchased a fortnight ago at 4s. to 4s. 3d. per bushel, f.o.b., which, with the freight agreed on, would stand in at 4s. or 5s. per quarter above current English values. The report thus summarises the Australasian wheat position:—"The Government Statist of Victoria has published his agricultural statistics for the year, which show an average yield of 14 bushels per acre, and an export surplus of about 210,000 tons. Of this 100,000 tons have already been shipped off. We have not yet received completed official figures for New Zealand; but the average so far is about 24 bushels, say two bushels less than last year, which works out to a surplus of 150,000 tons. In this colony no Government returns have been issued, and in the meantime we are disposed to estimate the average at nine bushels per acre, giving, say, 350,000 tons for export, of which 121,500 tons have been despatched to date. Allowing for colonial requirements, the combined exports from these three colonies to Europe alone will probably total 2,500,000 quarters, of which 700,000 quarters are already on the water." Messrs. Roberts, Paxton, and Co., in their Christchurch circular, dated 9th April, report a continuance of unfavourable weather, wet and dry days alternating. The result was that harvesting, had been seriously retarded, and the unsecured grain much damaged. Wheat was coming to hand quite out of condition, and it was quite the exception to find a farmer's parcel in proper order, and it seemed probable that the out-turn would be a third less than had been anticipated—the season having been worse than the last one. Perfect lots of wheat were selling at from 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d. f. o. b., the latter for long-bearded. Flour was quiet at £7 to £9 10s., and farmers were running into heavy stocks. Oats were in active demand for the New South Wales market at up to 2s. 4d. f. o. b. The yield had been excellent, 80 bushels to the acre having been by no means rare. In our market we hear of some inquiry for the better qualities of tea, but no business transpired. Beyond the quittance of a few small lines of sugar, trade under this head has not been active to-day, and there was nothing to indicate any change in value. In other grocery goods we do not hear of any business, quotations generally being unaltered. In liquors, we hear of very little business. There was some inquiry for geneva, but there is little in the market or to arrive, and prices are well maintained at 2os. Pig stout is also scarce, and holders have only small lines to dispose of, up to 10s. 6d. being quoted for quarts. Two transactions in champagne came under notice; and a quantity of Vergniaud claret was placed at agents' figures. A parcel of Glen Kinchie whisky sold at 8s. In metals the trade is very slack. The quittance of a line of Red Cross galvanised iron at £21 10s. is noted. Cement by steamships is offering at under cost price, the excessive import having for the time unduly depressed the market. In the farm produce market to-day, whilst intercolonial produce was in full supply, supplies from our own rivers were rather short.

At the leather sales to-day there was a very small attendance of buyers, and business was quiet, without any noteworthy feature. Messrs. Hill, Clark, and Co. F. L. Barker, Mort and Co., Limited, and Harrison Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report sales at the following ranges of value:—Kip, 11d. to 15d.; calf, 19½d. to 30d.; tweed, 16½d. to 27d.; sole, 8d. to 10d., damaged from 7d.; harness, 10d. to 12½d.; kangaroo, 27d.; yearling, 17d. to 25d.; basils, 7s. to 12s. 6d.; bridle, 7d. to 10d.; bag, 6s. to 11s.; collar, 7s. to 8s. 6d.; strap, 6s. to 8s.

At the request of the wool and sheepskin buyers who to-day wished to attend the funeral of Mr. Benjamin Eve, Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, postponed their fortnightly sale of wool and sheepskins until to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, at 9.15.

As to-morrow (Wednesday) is Cup Day, Messrs. Mort and Co. have postponed their usual fortnightly wool sale. They will offer a catalogue of sheepskins on Thursday afternoon.

The Christine, from Humboldt Bay, is to discharge her cargo of lumber in this port. The Nineveh, from Puget Sound, which arrived to-day, also brings a cargo of lumber for this market.

FAT STOCK MARKET.

At Homebush fat stock sales to-day there were 652 head of cattle yarded. The market was considerably easier. The best lot of bullocks averaged from £7 18s. 6d., other lots from £5 2s. 3d.; cows at proportionate rates. 3096 sheep were penned. The best lot of merino wethers sold at 16s. 2d., crossbreds to 21s. per head. The sheep market was higher for all qualities. The following sales were reported:—By Messrs. Brunker and Wolfe.—For C. Keys, 24 bullocks, from £6 7s. to £15 16s., averaging £8 5s. 6d.; 13 cows, from £3 14s. to £6 4s., averaging £4 9s. 4d.; for G. Loder, 21 bullocks, from £4 16s. to £7 19s., averaging £6 8s.; 18 cows, from £5 11s. to £7 10s., averaging £6 5s. 2d.; for Southern agents, 10 mixed cattle, at £2 19s.; for Messrs. Cunningham, 57 lambs, at 8s. By Messrs. Pitt, Son, and Badgery: 24 bullocks, Badgery Brothers, £7 18s. 6d.; 10 ditto, Badgery, £6 8s. 6d.; 128 ditto, H. Geary, £6 10s.; 23 cows, H. Geary, £5 6s. 6d.; 70 bullocks, C. Britton, £5 13s. 6d.; 24 ditto, T. P. Galbraith £5 2s. 3d.; 207 wethers, Southern agents, 13s. 2d.; 206 ditto, W. Webb, 12s. to 12s. 6d.; 400 ditto, James Gallagher, 10s. 7d. to 12s. 3d.; 219 ewes, T. Durack, 9s.; 115 ditto, R. Morrice, 6s. 7d. to 8s. 9d. By Messrs. Wilkinson, Graves, and Lavender: 1000 crossbred ewes, from the Murray, for Mr. J. Smith, at from 13s. 9d. to 21s. By Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited: 52 bullocks (Southern agents), at £5 7s.; 314 wethers (Southern agents), sold privately. By Messrs. Joseph Leeds and Co.: 900 wethers, for Mr. A. Chapman, at 10s. 6d. to 11s.

STOCK SALES.

Messrs. Macdermott, Loughnan, and Scarr report having sold (in conjunction with Messrs. B. D. Morehead and Co.), on account of the Darling Downs and Western Land Co., Limited, 1250 female cattle, aged 1 to 6 years, from their Cork station, Diamantina, Queensland, for the Northern Territory of South Australia.—[ADVT.]

grate through the unreasoning discontent or the extortionate demands of the workmen? Are ironworkers absolutely without power to adapt themselves to circumstances? Do they, will they always refuse to accept the inevitable, and go sheer down the hill of ruin, dragging employers and managers with them, rather than apply the necessary break of reduction and economy? Something of the sort has frequently been alleged here; something of the sort is even now seen in those black counties of England. Upon the same day that the masters are blowing out the furnaces because production has become "altogether unremunerative," the men are refusing to accept the sliding scale agreed to on both sides, and held to faithfully enough through all the years of prosperity, and are demanding extra rates for work through exceptional hours. "It is difficult to say whether there will be a strike or not." The men persist in their effort to extract blood from the stone of no profit, and the masters look on indifferent.

Under a variety of easily conceivable circumstances, should we see similar conditions here? Suppose a Middlesborough ironmaster to make a contract with the Government of New South Wales for the supply of 100,000 tons of rails, to acquire an available supply of ore, to bring out, in conjunction with the present immigration system, a full staff of experienced men, and to start manufacturing upon an apparently sound basis, would he in a few months be conscious of the familiar rottenness in his foundation through the old unreasonableness of the men? Would they, under the tutelage of unions, say, "We have nothing to do with your contracts and we repudiate our original agreements, made in ignorance of the conditions of the colony; we find trade regulations here, and they are absolute, and above all such minor considerations as payment of your enterprise or profit to your capital"? Such statements are made in certain quarters, and judged by past experience they can hardly be denied. What, then, are we to hold? That that way is closed, and if so, is there not another? Is there any spell to exorcise all these difficulties in the word co-operation. Can capital be persuaded to wed with skill and industry on terms of equal division of profits? Can we trust the pioneer men to give the captain his fair but larger share? Will the miners admit the superior claim of the analyst? All the shares would be larger if men could so agree, for nothing devours profit like the sleek jaws of the strike. It is for men of special knowledge and large opportunity to resolve these serious questions. Our duty scarcely goes beyond pointing out ways and means and possible difficulties and probable gains. Certainly it is a reflection upon the common sense of both sides if the thickheadedness of a common greed and suspicion permits such chances to lie idle, while capital and labour stand sullenly at defiance in unprofitable sloth.

Generally the holiday season may be said to have passed satisfactorily, but as usual, in a retrospect, one or two points appear of singular and conspicuous brightness, with corresponding depths, whose shadows should not have been. It is pleasant to know that, despite the ring of distress perpetually closing upon the town through the ever-broadening and tightening circle of water famine in the country, there is still heart enough for a good day's laugh, and that freedom from dismal apprehension which ensures the success of holiday sports. Sydney has seldom seen a brighter Easter. Caterers of all sorts received a patronage that exceeded their expectations—every boat was crowded, tram and train services tried to the uttermost and not found wanting. The people were well disposed for amusement no matter what cloud might be upon them, and generally the amusements were well managed. About the water service—and the water service is and always must be most important upon Sydney holidays—there were as usual some few matters which might have been improved, and others which had been improved in good and practical fashion since the last great holidays. There are some boats still running, and notably those upon the upper waters of the harbour, inadequate for the service upon which they are employed, and there were some other boats so indifferently managed as to occasion forebodings of disaster, which fortunately did not occur. The Commodore got ashore at Clontarf—a thing which surely should not have taken place, and the Glenelg, in working up to the wharf, got a line fouled with her propeller. Also it is noted that a landing stage at Cobbler's Beach carried away, an incident which does not reflect much credit upon those in charge. Happily no loss of life or serious injury followed either accident; but it is easy to foresee and important to note the possibilities of very terrible accidents following even a temporary lapse of diligence upon the part of those in responsible positions upon holiday times. The gains of the providers of conveyance are large, and their responsibilities are commensurate. A word of praise is due to the police, who throughout exercised a zeal tempered with discretion in keeping order in the streets, and were particularly vigilant in preventing upon the boats the entry of those objectionable people whose presence is the sure cause of evil at the various harbour resorts.

Degrees of affinity in regard to marriage have raised a question which now gives little trouble in this country. From the days of uncertainty caused by different regulations for different Churches, we have come into the smooth water of one law for all; and in that law it is pretty clearly laid down under what conditions marriage must not be celebrated. If England had a similar law it would save the occurrence of such incidents as that said recently to have happened. At least the tendency would be in that direction. Should any breaches of the law unhappily occur they would be there, as they are here, subjects for civil or criminal, not ecclesiastical interference. In the old country clergymen still have a certain power of the keys, and it is not without its terror to minds unaccustomed to the liberty enjoyed in new worlds. Any doubt as to the legality of marriage with a deceased wife's sister has been set at rest here by the Legislature. The fate of the question hung in the balance for a long time. There were prejudices against legalising such marriages. Relationships by marriage and by blood got mixed up in the minds and faith of some persons, and even now they are not quite clear. The law of the land coming in to say what free subjects might do, they have proceeded in a few instances to do it. The cases probably are not many; but the law leaves all persons free. Some of the Churches still have a caveat to enter. Those who belong to such Churches must of course take things as they find them. One Church says unions of this sort are immoral. If the voice of that Church is heeded in other things, it should be heeded in this. It is for those who accept her teaching to submit. They can hardly plead they are bound in some respects, but not in others, when all the subjects named are classed under the head of morals as to which any sin is mortal. The English Church has been consistent, if not wise, in this matter. No clergyman is obliged to celebrate a marriage. His authority from the Government is permission with a view to the faithful legal performance of the duty whenever undertaken. Should an unhappy widower, leading the sister of his deceased wife to the altar be repulsed, he must not complain; he should have been prepared for it, or should not have gone. Other Churches make no scruple to celebrate these marriages; the law permits and they do not forbid. It is not a State question here, but one for the Churches, and they are all alike free to do as they please.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

According to rumours in circulation at Suakim, Khartoum has fallen into the hands of the Mahdi, and General Gordon has been taken prisoner. The news is of serious import if true. Of course many more unlikely things happen. But it will be noticed that the message was dispatched on Monday, and although we have telegrams which were despatched from London yesterday, no mention of the event is made in them. The British Government has submitted a proposal to the European Powers for the solution of the financial question in Egypt. Other of our cablegrams refer to the unveiling of a statue of Gambetta, at Cahors, the volunteer reviews at Dover and Portsmouth, and the dispersion of the Cuban insurgents.

The Legislative Assembly will meet at 7 o'clock this evening. There are very few questions on the business paper, and unless time be taken up by the discussion of subjects under cover of a motion for adjournment the House should proceed at an early hour with the further consideration of the Estimates. The Departments whose estimates yet remain to be dealt with are those of the Postmaster-General, the Minister for Mines, and the Colonial Secretary. Mr. Farnell will probably move for leave to bring in a bill "to repeal the 19th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861, and the 27th and 28th sections of the Lands Acts Amendment Act, 1875, together with the regulations under the said sections," the object of this being to prevent the sale of land under mineral conditional purchase; and the third reading of the Criminal Law Amendment Bill and of the University Extension Bill may be proceeded with.

We understand that the Bishop of Sydney has consented to become vice-patron of the Bible Society in this colony, and that he has promised to give the society his sympathy and support.

The weather yesterday was very close and oppressive until about half-past 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the wind, which had been blowing from N.E. suddenly shifted to the southward, and a heavy thunderstorm occurred. The lightning was very vivid, several of the peals of thunder were loud, and the sky had a very threatening appearance. Rain, however, did not commence to fall until a little after 5 o'clock, but then it came down heavily, and continued for about 10 minutes. About half-past 5 the wind again shifted back to N.E., and the rain fell in blinding showers until about 8 o'clock, when the dark clouds which had been hanging about dispersed. Later in the night the sky became obscured again, and rain seemed imminent.

A meeting of persons favourable to the nomination of Dr. Renwick as a candidate for the electorate of Canterbury, was to have been held yesterday afternoon at Bass's Hotel, Pitt and Market streets, but from some cause or other the attendance at the appointed hour, and for some time afterwards, was very small, and it was ultimately decided not to hold the meeting. The representatives of the press who were present were requested to state that the meeting had been called without Dr. Renwick's knowledge, and that subsequent to the advertisement of the meeting appearing in the papers Dr. Renwick had stated that he was not a candidate for Canterbury, and that he had no intention of allowing himself to be nominated for the electorate.

On Friday last was laid the foundation stone of the Wesleyan School-Church at Tempe, Cook's River. The proceedings were commenced by devotional services, in which the Revs. S. Wilkinson, J. A. Nolan, and C. J. Duffil took part; after which Mr. E. C. Barker was requested to perform the ceremony of laying the stone, a handsome mallet and trowel, suitably inscribed, being presented to him for the purpose. In the cavity of the stone was deposited a copy each of the Sydney Morning Herald, the Daily Telegraph, and the Weekly Advocate of the day. Mr. Barker delivered an appropriate address, and was followed by the Revs. W. H. George, J. Gardiner, and C. J. Duffil. Upon the stone were deposited cash and promises, including £25 from Mr. Barker, amounting to over £100.

The trial of W. Everett Stone, charged with obtaining goods under false pretences, took place yesterday at the Quarter Sessions and resulted in the conviction of prisoner, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. During the hearing of the case the Crown proposed to call evidence to prove a previous conviction against the prisoner, who vehemently objected to such a course being adopted until the jury had found him guilty. During his protest his remarks seemed to excite the sympathy of certain persons in the body of the court, and one man who had been detected in the act of applauding was promptly brought before the Judge. The offender, however, was so abject in his apology, and pleaded his inexperience in regard to court etiquette with such apparent truth that he was released, and retired with considerable expedition. The court adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning, when the prisoners Lane, Campbell, and Mackay, who were convicted last Thursday of assault with intent, will be sentenced.

At about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Michael Barrett, on his return from a visit to Pittwater, called at the Union Inn, St. Leonards, of which Mrs. Connelly is the licensee, to obtain some refreshment. On knocking somewhat loudly at the door, he was astonished to see a man clamber out of one of the windows, which he had previously observed to be open. The man proved to be a burglar, who immediately made off, and as soon as Mr. Barrett recovered from his surprise he gave chase. After a smart run he overtook the rascal, and seized him by the clothing as he was climbing the fence of Judge M'Farland's property. Unfortunately by throwing himself over the fence the burglar tore himself from the clutches of his pursuer and made good his escape. The window referred to was propped up by means of a table-knife, which had probably been used to force the window-fastener, and which did not belong to the occupants of the house. The burglar, during the pursuit, dropped a hand-bag, a collar, a clothes brush, and a small screwdriver, none of which are the property of Mrs. Connolly. He does not appear to have taken anything from the premises. No doubt the unexpected arrival of the traveller put an end to his operations. The police have not, up to the present, been able to find any trace of the offender. It may be mentioned that the constable on duty at this part of the town had been called off to the neighbourhood of Long Bay, where a disciple of Bacchus had been creating a disturbance, and for which he afterwards answered in the local Police Court.

A meeting of persons favourable to the exercise of the prerogative of mercy in the case of William Rice, now under sentence of death for murder, was held in the Trinity Church schoolroom, Argyle-place, Miller's Point, last evening. There was an attendance of about 50, amongst those present being the Ven. Archdeacon King, the Rev. J. B. Lavers, Alderman Playfair, Alderman Hart, and Mrs. Rice, stepmother to the condemned. Mr. Playfair occupied the chair. Statements were made by various persons with respect to certain acts on the part of the prisoner which they considered tended to show that he suffered from insanity, and remarks were made as to the want of proper training when he was young. It was also mentioned that when Rice became of age he received £1800, and that he had spent all that money with the exception of 17s., in drinking and debauchery. Archdeacon King said he thought that if the friends of Rice could establish the fact that he was insane, they would have a good ground to place before the Government for the commutation of the sentence from capital punishment to imprisonment for life in one of the asylums. He wished it to be understood that he could not take any part in any action which might be taken by the meeting. For many years past he had considered it to be his duty to keep clear of interference with the laws in cases of that kind. After further discussion it was decided to ask those who had made statements bearing on the question of the sanity of the prisoner, to put those statements into writing, so that they might be forwarded to the Government; and it was also resolved to present to the Colonial Secretary a petition, of which the following forms part:—"That your petitioners entertain great doubts as to the sanity of the prisoner William Rice at the time of the commission of the offence by him, for which he is now lying under sentence of death. That your petititioners are of opinion that immediate steps should be taken by the Executive Council to inquire into and ascertain the condition of mind of the prisoner William Rice at the time of the commission of such offence. That your petitioners earnestly and humbly pray that, even if it should be proved that the said William Rice was of sound mind at such time, the Executive Council will be pleased to exercise its prerogative of mercy towards the said William Rice on account of his youth." A deputation having been appointed to wait upon Mr. Stuart with the petition, the meeting terminated. Nearly all who attended the meeting then signed the petition.

A cooper, named Robert Leeds (60); employed at Toohey's brewery in Elizabeth-street, met with a painful accident yesterday. He was attempting to fix a belt to a fly-wheel, when he was caught by the belt and thrown violently over the wheel, sustaining severe injuries to his back. He was afterwards taken to the hospital, where he was admitted and placed under treatment.

An accident of a somewhat serious character occurred early yesterday morning, at Woollahra, at the residence of Mrs. Petersen, a widow. The house is situated on the Point Piper-road. It appears that Mrs. Petersen detected a smell of gas in the front room on the ground floor, and after opening the window struck a match, when an explosion occurred. The windows and doors were blown out, and all the furniture in the room was destroyed. Mrs. Petersen, who narrowly escaped with her life, was severely burnt, and received a great shock to the system. The building is the property of Mr. James Thompson, and its contents were insured in the Hanseatic Insurance Company's Office for £100. The gas had escaped through the water-slide and filled the room.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock yesterday morning the dead body of a man was found floating in the waters of Farm Cove, and was removed by the Water Police to the morgue at Circular Quay. The body, which has not yet been identified, is supposed to be that of the unfortunate man Peter Davis, late mate of the barque Prospector, who fell overboard in Sydney Cove whilst that vessel was leaving for Newcastle on the evening of the 9th instant. An inquest will be held to-day, if the captain and crew of the barque mentioned return from Newcastle.

A bill was introduced into the British House of Commons on February 6, by Sir Charles Dilke, Sir W. Harcourt, and Mr. Chamberlain, the object of which is to provide that in all elections, whether parliamentary or municipal, in boroughs with more than 5000 electors, the hours of polling shall be extended from 8 o'clock in the morning until 8 in the evening of the same day.

It appears from a paper published by order of the House of Commons that the number of paupers in England in receipt of relief on the last day of the Christmas quarter, 1883, was 714,704, showing a decrease of 26,203, or 3.5 per cent. over the number at the corresponding date of the previous year. In the metropolis the number of paupers receiving relief was 92,036, a decrease of 4651, or 4.8 per cent. as compared with the previous year.

In the British House of Commons, on the 6th February last, a bill was introduced by Mr. Monckton, the Marquis of Stafford, Mr. H. T. Davenport, and Mr. H. H. Fowler, the object of which is to provide for the sanitary inspection of dwelling-houses. The bill provides for the appointment of sanitary inspectors, and after the commencement of the Act no building shall be erected without the plans having been first submitted to the sanitary inspector, and receiving his approval, such plans to show clearly the position of the drains, soil pipes, traps, closets or privies, refuse receptacles, cisterns for water supply, pipes and fittings, and all ventilating openings or shafts, and all other sanitary appliances; and to be accompanied by a written statement as to whence the water supply for drinking and domestic purposes is obtained.

Mr. T. W. Grimshaw, the Registrar-General of Ireland, recently laid before the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland some statistics respecting the produce of the crops for 1883, and the document has been printed, by order of Parliament. The returns for 1883 are of a very favourable character, as compared with those of 1882. Although the progressive decrease in tillage, which had been going on for several years, still continued, yet the increased yield and value of the harvest, as compared with that of the previous year, was of a very marked character. The potato crop was about double that of 1882, being an increase of 1,457,142 tons. Turnips had increased by 899,856 tons; mangel wurzel by 92,677 tons; oats by 564,736 cwt.; and barley by 68,323 cwt. At the same time wheat had decreased by 778,727cwt.; bere (a species of barley) by 795cwt.; and rye by 1547cwt. There was also a decrease in flax of 2330 tons, and in hay of 177,903 tons. The aggregate increase in the value of the crops for the year as compared with the returns for the previous year was £4,283,198, and it was £1,485,368 better than the average of the ten preceding years.

The project for a world's fair continues to be agitated in San Francisco, but (says the N. Y. Tribune) almost as many prominent citizens are against as for it. These think that it would be useless to push this enterprise unless San Francisco could guarantee at least half a million dollars, and many express doubts whether any such sum can be raised. Not much reliance is placed upon Congressional aid, and fears are entertained that other parts of California would refuse to help San Francisco in such a matter. Altogether the project does not appear to have yet aroused the necessary amount of enthusiasm, and one practical objection is the selection of the year 1887, that having been already chosen by Australia for a similar exhibition. [The proposed Australian Centennial Exhibition is for 1888—Ed.]

Regarding the sudden death of Mr. J. Henty, the Auckland correspondent of the New Zealand Times reports that on April 9, at an inquest held on board the Ringarooma, Captain Toser deposed that, as far as he could judge, the cause of death was delirium tremens. The second steward gave corroborative evidence. Mr. Giblin, accountant of the Bank of New Zealand, deposed he had known deceased since 1876. Mr. Henty suffered from chest and lung disease, and was of temperate habits. Dr. Tennant, who made a post mortem examination, deposed that there was great congestion of the brain. The cause of death was serous apoplexy, resulting from general debility of the system, caused by sea-sickness and exhaustion. A verdict of death from natural causes was returned. Mr. Henty was the nephew of Mr. Edward Henty, one of the pioneers of Victoria, and was the son of Mr. Stephen Henty. Deceased was married, but had no family, and he had been in the service of the Bank of New Zealand at Sydney for the past nine years.

A singular circumstance of the inability of medical men to distinguish between a trance and actual death (says the Manchester Examiner), has just occurred at Leeds. Emma Whittaker, 16 years old, has for a long time been suffering from consumption, and the disease, it was believed, had terminated fatally. She apparently breathed her last early in the afternoon, and the body was accordingly washed and laid out in the usual manner. An undertaker was called in and took the measurement for the coffin, and other preparations for the funeral were in course. Late at night the mother and a neighbour were sitting in the kitchen, when they were startled by hearing a noise upstairs, followed by a cry of "mother." Much startled, they went to ascertain what it all meant, when they found the poor girl, still wrapped in her grave clothes, standing at the top of the stairs, complaining that she was cold. She was put to bed and medical aid summoned. She soon became quite rational, though, of course, she has not been told how far the arrangements had progressed towards her burial. This singular case of trance is exciting a good deal of interest both among medical men and the public generally.

The inhabitants of Dubbo and the district (says the Dispatch) having tendered to the Chief Justice an invitation to a public banquet, and his Honor having accepted the same, it was decided that the banquet be held on the evening of the 19th. The compliment to the Chief Justice is intended to mark Sir James's first visit to Dubbo.

The Premier of New Zealand (Major Atkinson), replying to a question at Hawera, said he held that presently the colony would revert to denominationalism in a modified form in the large centres of population. He did not think the country was yet ripe for the change, but he did not doubt that it would shortly come to it.

His Honor Sir Charles Lilley, Chief Justice of Queensland, has appointed Mr. T. B. Dibbs, of 92, Pitt-street, Sydney, solicitor, a Commissioner of the Supreme Court of Queensland for taking affidavits in New South Wales.

Recently a good deal of discussion took place in religious circles respecting the interchange of pulpits between the Rev. Dr. Bromby, of St. Paul's pro-Cathedral, and the Rev. Charles Strong, of the Scots Church. Some of the Anglican clergy strongly objected, and contended that the bishop of Melbourne could not legally allow Mr. Strong to occupy a Church of England pulpit, and a case for the oppinion of the leading ecclesiastical barristers was sent to England. An opinion, which is signed by J. Parker Dean, Arthur, Charles, and F. H. Jeune has recently arrived, and it pronounces against the proceeding. Under these circumstances, Dr. Moorhouse announces that in future he shall feel himself precluded from authorising any minister or member of a denomination other than the Church of England to preach in any church or chapel of the Church of England.

THE R.M.S. ROME IN QUARANTINE.

[By Telegraph.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Further information regarding the quarantining of the R.M.S. Rome only serves to confirm the opinion that there has been gross blundering on the part of the various officials of the Central Board of Health. The President, Dr. Youl, says that Dr. Levis, the gentleman at present in charge of the Quarantine Station, is blameable for not letting Miss Kermode out of the ship on to the station, and he ought also to have had the mails got out sooner; but Dr. Bulmer, the regular Health Officer, might have co-operated, which he did not. On the other hand, the board is condemned for having made little or no preparation at the station. Last night a number of constables were sent down, but no provision had been made for their accommodation, and the same was the case with the special nurse despatched to look after Miss Kermode. Mr. Withers, P. and O. superintendent, has addressed a strong remonstrance to the Board and to the Chief Secretary, pointing out that Miss Kermode is thoroughly convalescent, that the case developed eighteen days ago, and that under the circumstances the vessel might be safely granted pratique. If detained much longer, as she had a heavy cargo to deliver at Melbourne and Sydney, she could not take up the mail service arrangements. The Central Board met this morning, and ultimately decided to send down the president, Dr. Youl, to the scene to take whatever action he thought necessary as to the vessel and passengers who may be landed from her on to the Quarantine Station to-morrow at noon. Dr. Youl is reported to be somewhat doubtful whether Miss Kermode's case was one of smallpox. He accordingly proceeded to the scene late this afternoon, accompanied by Dr. Allen, another member of the board. A providore and stores have also gone down.

A reporter, writing from Portsea to-night says, "The position of affairs at the Quarantine Station remains unchanged externally. Eight foot constables who arrived last night have been put on to their duty, and all the avenues of the ground declared in quarantine are now more or less guarded. To-morrow four mounted men will arrive. About noon to-day the first supply of stores, such as provisions, &c., were brought over from Queenscliff by the mail agent, and proper persons to dispense them are expected to follow. Dr. Levis boarded the Rome again this morning, and it is understood at the station that his report is pretty much the same as that of yesterday. It is also stated that by noon to-morrow the preparations for landing the Rome passengers will be complete, and that they will then be received on shore. I venture to express the opinion, judging from the way I have seen things going on, that the boasted preparations will be found very incomplete, and that the complaints of the passengers will be loud. At present the infected steamer lies calmly at her anchorage, with a yellow flag at her fore. No one has been landed from her."

NARROW ESCAPE FROM A RAILWAY ACCIDENT NEAR MELBOURNE.

[By Telegraph.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Railway Commissioners have had reported to them the narrow escape of a collision between two heavily laden passenger trains at Glenferrie station on Good Friday afternoon. John M'Namarra, driver of the 2.49 p.m. train from Camberwell to Melbourne, although the signal at the semaphore was showing danger, failed to pull up his train on approaching the station, where another passenger train was standing on the same line. The mistake was fortunately discovered in time, or a dreadful accident must inevitably have resulted, as it was only by applying powerful brakes that the train was brought to a stand within 60 yards of the other, having considerably overrun the points. M'Namarra and the guard have been suspended pending further inquiry.

DISCOVERY of SUBTERRANEAN WATER in SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

[By Telegraph.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

To-day the Conservator of Water received a telegram from the foreman of the Government well-boring party at Tarkanina, 60 miles north of Farina, stating that the party had struck good water at a depth of 1220 feet. The water rises 20 feet above the surface. These operations commenced three years ago under the superintendence of the Surveyor-General, who formed a favourable opinion of the country from its geologic features if they could penetrate the strata. Where the salt water was stored was first struck at 800 feet, by hand tools, last year, when steam power was put on, and progress was made at the rate of two feet per day. The bore is the deepest in the colonies, and the discovery is all the more important as it is in the cretaceous formation, which occupies a large extent of the north-eastern portion of the colony.

Thomas William Kellow, a young man, was brought up on bail at the police court to-day charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm on his wife, Hannah Jane Kellow. The prosecutrix is only 17 years of age, and had been married six months. At the last hearing of the case Sub-inspector Brennan deposed that the depositions of prosecutrix had been taken, as it was thought that the injuries which she had received would terminate fatally. She had recovered sufficiently to appear in court to-day, when she said that she would not press the charge, and the defendant thereupon was liberated on finding two securities for his good behaviour for 12 months.

PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS.

THE GUNDAGAI ELECTORATE.

[By Telegraph.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

GUNDAGAI, Tuesday.

Mr. J. H. Want addressed a largely attended meeting of electors at the Assembly Hall this afternoon, Mr. J. B. Elworthy in the chair. The meeting was very orderly, and Mr. Want asked for a patient hearing. He said that he had persistently refused to enter public life until now, as he had not obtained a sufficiently independent position to enable him to devote the necessary time to the duties. He was offered a walkover at Canterbury to prevent his coming to Gundagai; but he preferred the latter, because it had always elected clever men. He thought it an advantage rather than otherwise for a candidate to be a lawyer. He condemned Mr. Watson's proposed tax on wool, cattle, and coal, and then dilated on the Circular Quay affair and the railway contract business, charging Mr. Watson with attempted corruption in the former, and in the latter of having an interest in a railway contract while holding the office of Colonial Treasurer. He admitted that none of these had been proved, but believed that they could, and said that Mr. Watson should not enter Parliament until they were disproved. In regard to the land question, he was in favour of the new bill. He would act independently in Parliament, and would not feather his nest. He asserted his patriotism, which moved him to seek a seat in Parliament. He exposed the evils of the present Land Act, but paid a high compliment to the framer, Sir John Robertson, for his honesty of intention. The present Act was the best milch cow the lawyers ever had. [A Voice: Lawyers framed it.] He would abolish auction sales, and bring land courts for settlement of disputes to people's doors. In the Licensing Act reforms had gone too far, and he was in favour of amending it. He believed in the English Act, and would assist in amending this Act. He thought the railway rates too high, and would try to have them lowered. He could fight his own battles, and believed himself able to fight theirs quite as well as Mr. Watson. When they had heard both candidates he told them to use their judgment, and he would be willing to abide by the result. Mr. T. M. Slattery, M.L.A., briefly addressed the meeting, and afterwards the usual vote of confidence was put, and carried almost unanimously. A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.

The Canterbury Jockey Club Autumn Meeting was commenced at Christchurch yesterday. The race for the Autumn Handicap resulted as follows :—

Lady Emma ... 3

THE A. J. C. AUTUMN MEETING.

The general settling over the events which were run on the St. Leger Day took place at Tattersall's last evening, when everything passed off pleasantly. Le Grand was elected first favourite for the Sydney Cup, and 3 to 1 was the best offer to money; while, although it is thought that the long-strided Empress will be affected by the heavy going, 5 to 1 was the best offer against her. Pell Mell was at 7 to 1, with a great tendency to shorten. Sardonyx was in a little more favour than Sweet William at 10 to 1, and Normanby was in more or less favour at 12 to 1. First Demon had friends at 14 to 1, and a point more was forthcoming about Martini-Henry, while the prices of the others ranged from 20 to 50 to 1. The racing will begin at 1 o'clock with the Flying Handicap, and unless Kathleen be as good as when she last carried silk at Randwick, the race should be exceedingly open. The Maiden Plate bids fair to be secured by either Bargo or Salvo, and the first-named will probably have a great battle with Kathleen for the Produce Stakes, and if the filly be reserved for it a great race may be witnessed. Twenty-four were left in the Sydney Cup last night, and on recent running Le Grand, Sweet William, and Empress may attract the attention of the judge as named, but great danger may come from Pell Mell, who as a three-year-old, was nearly if not quite as good as Commotion. Taken right through the programme is a very brilliant one, and the following horses still remain in for the various events up to date :—

MELBOURNE, TUESDAY.

The victory of Le Grand in the A. J. C. St. Leger Stakes has caused him to advance to the premier position in the wagering over the Sydney Cup at 3 to 1, Pell Mell coming next at 6 to 1, Empress 7 to 1, Sweet William 8 to 1. From 10 to 20 to 1 is offered on the others, with little business doing.

THE YEARLING SALES.

The autumn sales of thoroughbred yearlings commenced yesterday, when there was a good attendance of buyers. Messrs. The Duckenfield Park yearlings brought fair prices, but the filly by Maribyrnong from Chrysolite was passed in at 600 guineas. The Maribyrnong—Milliner colt, and the filly by Julian Avenel were passed in at 130 guineas and 240 guineas respectively. Mr. W. J. Kiss opened proceedings by disposing of the Windsor yearlings at satisfactory figures. Then Mr. W. M. Garling caused a couple of colts to change ownership. Mr. T. S. Clibborn had rather a lengthy list, and commenced with the Fernhill youngsters. The pick of the basket, a chesnut filly by Chandos (imp.), from imported Lady Chester (the dam of Chester), was rapidly run up to 600 guineas, but the offer was declined; and the chestnut colt by Chandos from Atholine (the dam of the Maribyrnong Plate winners—Habena and Norina), brought the highest price, 180 guineas. The Tocal yearlings were in great favour, and the Hon. W. Pearson, of Victoria, secured the brown colt by Goldsbrough, from Powder (imp.), by Blinkhoolie, from Jeu d' Esprit (dam of Feu de Joie, winner of the English Oaks in 1862), by Flatcatcher from Extempore, winner of the One Thousand Guineas, for the nice little sum of 625 guineas. A fine brown colt, by Goldsbrough from Thirza (the dam of the speedy Wallangra), by Yattendon from Remnant, by Young Gustavus from imported Mirror, by Sir Hercules, went to Mr. Proudfoot for 370 guineas; and brown daughter of Goldsbrough and Maritana was secured by Mr. Patterson for 240 guineas. The two from Baroona sold well, for the son of Hawthornden (imp.) and Sunshine (imp.) realised 200 from Mr. M. Jacobs; and Tell Tale, by Gainsborough from Spoilt Child (imp.), fell to the nod of Mr. Patterson for 175. Lamond secured the best looking of the Leeholme youngsters, a chestnut colt by King of the Ring from Sappho, who has had her name made famous by the victories of Lecturer, Kingsborough, Savanaka, Nellie, &c., for 200 guineas; and, after T. Brown had purchased a full brother to Lord Exeter for 115 guineas, the rest of the Exeter Farm yearlings, as well as those from Colley Creek, Hobartville, Bylong, Bathurst, Oaklands, Foxhow, and last, but not least, Table Top, were held over until to-morrow, Thursday, when they will be brought under the hammer at the same place. The following is a list of the prices realised, and it will be seen that none of the figures were of a sensational character:—

By Mr. G. Kiss.—On account of Mr. J. M. M'Quade: Brown colt, by Gemma di Vergy from Cremorne by Yattendon, to Mr. Weekes, for 110 guineas; brown colt, by Gemma di Vergy from Matilda by Maribyrong, to Mr. W. INTERCOLONIAL BOWLING MATCH.

NEW SOUTH WALES V. VICTORIA.

The seventh annual match at bowls between the representatives of the colonies of New South Wales and Victoria took place yesterda on the well appointed green of the Balmain club. This fine old English game was played many years ago at Parramatta, and perhaps the very antiquity of the pastime is the reason of its having found favour in the eyes of the residents of that ancient village. At any rate it was played there years before it found votaries in the metropolis or its immediate suburbs. To Alderman John Young and Mr. T. C. Hinchcliffe is due the credit of having fostered a taste for the game among the residents of the city and suburbs. Alderman Young, in particular, was the most zealous advocate for the widespread formation of bowling clubs, believing that it was a recreation which afforded exercise for those who had passed the meridian of life, for the middle-aged, and the more youthful members of the community; while it was calculated in every way to promote harmony and good-fellowship amongst those who followed it. At the outset numerous difficulties confronted the bold alderman, but, with the aid of Mr. Forsyth and other devotees of the sport, a green was formed in Cook Park, a sward for the purpose having previously been made in Alderman Young's private grounds at Annandale. The formation of other greens followed, and in about five years from the initiation of these gentlemen's efforts bowling has been firmly established in Sydney, and is increasing every day in popularity among those who have passed that time of life when they can follow the scientific game of cricket or indulge in the more robust pastime of football. Bowling has been established for many years in Victoria, and in Melbourne and all the country towns it has taken strong root and is flourishing every day. Therefore it was deemed bold policy for the bowlers of Sydney to challenge their more experienced Victorian friends to a contest on the green sward for the championship of the two colonies. At first the Sydney bowlers were ignominiously defeated; but, nothing daunted, they persevered, taking their defeats valiantly, but profiting by them nevertheless. The New South Wales team in the present contest was confined to the four clubs represented on the New South Wales Bowling Association, while the Victorian team was selected from fifteen or sixteen clubs. Of the six matches already played up to yesterday this colony has been victorious but once. In the last three matches played, however, her representatives have shown steady improvement, and have closely pressed the Victorians several times. It is gratifying to record that our men continued to improve, and their victory yesterday over our visitors—though a narrow one—shows what steady practice and perseverance will achieve. The fact of the Sydney players being able to meet their former victorious rivals on a footing of equality as regards skill will ensure for the future a greater degree of interest in these annual bowling contests than has been hitherto accorded them by the public of New South Wales.

The weather was fine during the greater part of the afternoon, but about 4 o'clock it thundered and clouds began to gather, but fortunately they did not discharge their watery contents until about ten minutes to 6 o'clock, the time appointed for the cessation of play. The green, owing to the fine weather of yesterday, was in splendid condition, and was a trifle quick—a circumstance which it was thought would greatly favour the Victorian players. There was a large and fashionable gathering, which embraced a large number of tastefully-attired ladies and the Mayor of Sydney, who is a great patron of the game. Before the usual preliminaries of drawing the various rinks had been arranged, both teams were entertained at a sumptuous luncheon by the Balmain Bowling Club. After the company had regaled themselves, Mr. Allt, the president of the Balmain Club, proposed the "Health of the Victorian Bowling Team," and in doing so alluded to the splendid hospitality the New South Wales team had received on the occasion of their visits to Melbourne. He was quite sure whatever hospitality they extended to their Victorian friends would fall far short of the generous treatment they had received while in Melbourne. Mr. Mark Moss, president of the Victorian Bowling Association, made a brief but appropriate reply, in which he stated that he and his friends thoroughly appreciated the kindness they had received while in Sydney, and he hoped that during the game the best men would win.

The different rinks having been drawn, the game commenced at 3 o'clock. In the drawing of the men it was considered that No. 4 rink had the best players in it, the Victorian quartette containing J. Kennedy, who had on the previous day won the champion medal, and A. W. Fraser, one of the keenest of Victorian bowlers. It was impossible for anyone to watch the players at the different rinks at one time, so those present divided their attention among the four different sets. In order that the state of the game, as it progressed, should be known by the onlookers, the aggregate points scored by each side were posted in a conspicuous place at the end of each half-hour. The fluctuations in the score were watched with considerable interest. At the end of the first half-hour's play the game stood—New South Wales 12 and Victoria 21. Victoria still continued in the van, but did not increase her score at the end of the next half-hour, and at 4 o'clock New South Wales had made up the leeway, and had actually passed the Victorians, the respective scores being 63 and 61. This grand pull-up for this colony was owing to the fine play of her four men in No. 4 rink. At half-past 4 o'clock the Victorians lost another point, the game being Victoria 76 and New South Wales 79. The last half-hour's play was watched with the keenest interest, it being felt that the contest would be a close and exciting one. At 10 minutes before the call of time rain came down causing a temporary cessation of play, but with the aid of umbrellas it was brought to a close, the New South Wales team being hailed the victors by 19 points. There was not much difference in the play of any of the rinks except No. 4, and in this Davies played an extraordinarily fine game for New South Wales. Making all allowances for the elements of luck which are inseparable from the game, he played with an amount of skill and boldness which carried all before it. It is rather strange that though the four Victorians in that rink were the strongest of the Victorians, they had the largest majority against them. At the conclusion of the game the contending teams and their friends retired to the pavilion, when Alderman John Young, in calling for three cheers for the visiting team, said that the home players had always an advantage over the visitors, who could not get all their best men. He also spoke of the good-fellowship the game created amongst its followers, and before sitting down drew special attention to the kindness of Messrs. J. C. Williamson and Polk in giving the entrée of their theatres to the visitors. Three ringing cheers having been given to the Victorians, Mr. Mark Moss responded in a humorous speech. He said the Victorians had on the previous day carried off the champion medal of New South Wales, and out of respect to their Sydney friends they had agreed to let them taste the sweets of victory. The Victorians were perfectly satisfied with the result, and they would go back so. He was of opinion that Sir John Robertson had inspired his friend (Alderman Young) to thrash the Victorians, and if that object had been accomplished they had only beaten a lot of old men. In conclusion, he said there should be no animosity between the two colonies, and he thought bowling would be the means of laying the foundation-stone of federation between the colonies. The health of the Mayor of Melbourne, the Mayor of Sydney, and that of Mr. Allt, president of the Balmain Bowling Club, having been proposed and responded to, the complimentary exchanges were brought to a termination. Appended are the results of the different rinks :—

There was a large gathering of people, numbers of visitors having come from long distances. Every thing passed off well, the weather being beautifully fine. The principal events were well contested. The Sheffield Handicap of £100 was run in divisions, for which 27 acceptors started, the placed men being—W. Clements, 1st; S. M'Donald, 2nd; Byrne, 3rd. The Amateur Cup was also run in divisions, the prize being 10 guineas, and was won by H. Kenworthy.

CAMDEN SPORTS.

The Foresters' Sports, which were held here yesterday, were a great success. About 1500 people were present. The Camden cricketers played a team from Appin yesterday, the result being an easy win for the former. The scores were—Appin 63 runs, Camden 230 runs.

CRICKET.

An interesting contest took place at Macdonaldtown on Saturday last between two elevens chosen from the residents of the borough. Messrs. Hutchinson and Fraser were the opposing captains. The latter won the toss and elected to go in first. Owing to the destructive bowling of Bain and Pigeon, Fraser's side were disposed of for the small score of 55 runs, Seale 13 and Fraser 10 (not out) being the principal contributors. Hutchinson's side were more successful with the bat, and ran up the respectable total of 84 runs; Arkinstall with 22, Abigail with 14, Chambers with 12, and Alderson and Goddard with 10 each, being the chief scorers. Mr. F. Fallick, Mayor of the borough, greatly distinguished himself with the ball.

The following matches were played on Good Friday:—Employees of Messrs. Coates, of Parramatta, and those of Messrs. J. Booth and Co.; won by the former by an innings and 55 runs. Windsorville v. Carlton (juniors) resulted in a win for the former by 61 runs.

Our Jerilderie correspondent telegraphs that the cricket match for the Jones Cup, which was played there yesterday between the Narrandera and Jerilderie teams, was won by the local team, the scores being :—Narrandera, first innings 40, second innings 138, total 178; Jerilderie, first innings 90, second innings 95, total 185 runs. The bowling was good on both sides, Mackie for the local team, and Phillips for the visitors, being especially effective. In batting, Fowler and Taylor, for Jerilderie, made a first-class show, and Armstrong and Flood doing good work for Narrandera. Prizes for batting, bowling, and fielding were awarded to Fowler, Armstrong, Mackie, and Brown.

Our Wagga correspondent telegraphs that the Wagga cricketing team won the Mandleson Cup at Adelong on Saturday, returning from there on Sunday morning.

HANLAN AND BEACH.

A meeting of the friends and supporters of William Beach was held last night at Punch and Deeble's Hotel, for the purpose of objecting to Beach rowing on the Nepean River for the championship of the world, and claiming that the proper place to row was on the established champion course on the Parramatta River. There was a large attendance, and Mr. F. Thomas was voted to the chair. A motion was proposed by Mr. W. Coonan,—"That the race for the championship of the world between Beach and Hanlan be rowed on the Parramatta River, and that a committee be formed of the whole of the supporters and backers of Beach for the promotion of this object." This was seconded by Mr. J. D. Young, and on being put to the meeting was carried unanimously. Mr. Maurice Greenwall, the representative of Edward Hanlan, then entered the room, and on being called upon stated that Hanlan would row William Beach or any one whom the committee liked to bring forward, on the Parramatta River or any course they chose, for a stake of £1000 a-side, and asked the committee to at once settle the question. Ultimately it was decided to defer the matter until Tuesday evening next at the same place, when arrangements will be made for a match for £500 a-side, the race to take place on the Parramatta River.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

The second shooting contest in connection with the Moigneaux Champagne Trophy took place yesterday, at the Gun Club's grounds, Botany. MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CARCOAR, TUESDAY.

Three tons of quartz from the tributary ground on the Balmoral lease have been crushed, the yield being 32oz. of gold. Mathewson and party's claim, situated on the ground known as Cardigan's cancelled lease, crushed 29 tons, which yielded 23oz. of gold. Owing to the scarcity of water in this neighbourhood the Balmoral battery is at present stopped. On the cancelled lease, No. 93, a new discovery of auriferous quartz has been made. The reef, which is impregnated with gold averaging about 3 feet wide, is in the ground owned by the Association Company.

The mining manager of the Brickwood Tin-mining Company, Limited, reports, under date 12th instant :—In the west drive of the Deep Lead he is blocking out very good wash, averaging in depth 6 to 18 inches, the east drive is being pushed ahead, and the wash is very rich. In the shallow workings the tributors are getting a large quantity of dirt to grass. Work done for week, 30 feet by 12 feet, blocked out in Western drive, 17 feet driven in eastern drive.

The mining manager of the Centennial Prospecting and Baal Gammon Amalgamated Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Copeland, under date 12th instant reports:—"Better progress has been made this week, as the contractors have driven 6 feet for the week, making total length of tunnel 426 feet, and every appearance of better driving. A new leader has been cut, and may probably result in something better than the last. The rain we have had here did not do us much good, as it was not heavy enough to fill the dam."

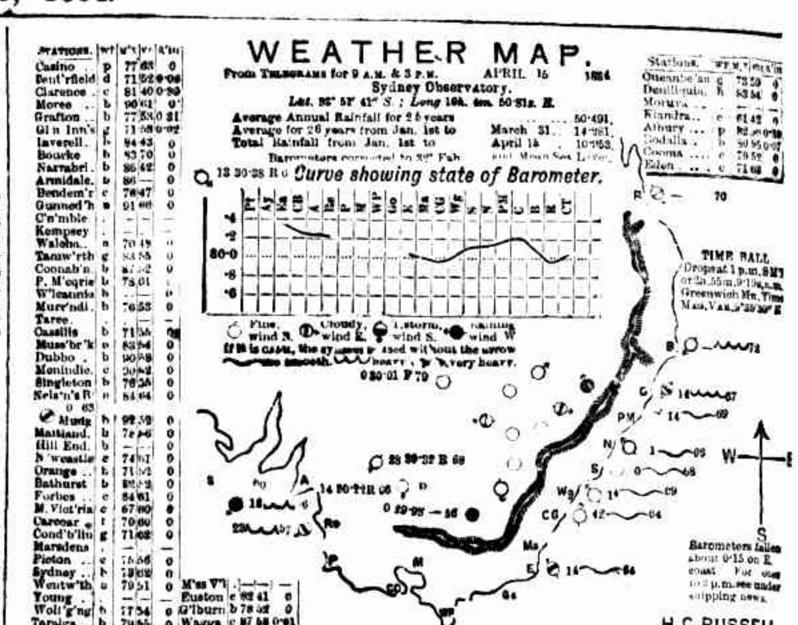

Under date 12th instant the mining manager of the Prince of Wales Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Burnt Yards, reports:—"The blue shaft has been sunk a further depth of 3 feet, making total depth 410 feet. The vein is now 2 feet 7 inches thick, and getting wider as we go down. The stone is exceedingly rich, both in free gold and pyrites. I send you samples of pyrites from a 4lb. piece of stone for assay. (Result of assay: Fine gold, 4oz. 18dwt.; silver, 16oz. 7dwt.; and No. 2: Fine gold 11oz. 8dwt.; silver, 94oz. 5dwt.) Rain badly wanted, dam completely dry." Telegram 15th instant: "Very rich stone in sight, with every indication of better deeper."

The mining manager of the Great Cobar Copper Mine telegraphs for week ended 12th instant as follows:—"Copper despatched, 56 tons; ore smelted, 488 tons, producing equal to 65 tons fine copper. Weather dry. Fourteen furnaces working."

The mining manager of the Prince of Wales and Old Poverty Company reports:—"The main drive has been driven 30 feet from plat, likely looking country for stone in the face, being a nice blue slate with sandy floors. Contractors are getting on well with the plant, having both engines on their beds."

The manager of the Red Hill Amalgamated Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Tambaroora, reports under date 12th April :—"Since my report of the 5th instant we have commenced to put in opening drives north and south on the main line at the 230-feet level, and 15 feet has been driven north and 10 feet south of crosscut; the rock is hard and requires blasting. The vein has increased in size about 11 inches, but is not equal in quantity to where the vein is smaller."

AMUSEMENTS.

THE THEATRES.

There are no changes in the theatrical programmes for this evening, but there are plenty of excellent entertainments. "The Silver King," one of the finest plays produced in Sydney, will be performed at the Theatre Royal. At the Opera House "The Strategist" will be repeated, and at the Gaiety Theatre "Passion;" while the Federal Minstrels will appear at the Academy of Music, and the Royal Marionettes at the Masonic Hall.

AN ENGLISH FAIR.

A bazaar conducted on the principles of an old English fair was opened on Monday in St. James' Hall, Forest Lodge, the object of which is to raise funds to reduce the existing debt on the Roman Catholic church and school at Forest Lodge. The Rev. Father Callachor conducted the opening ceremony, and the proceedings were carried out with much éclat. The hall presents a very attractive appearance, owing to the way in which the stalls have been arranged, and the varied costumes worn by the ladies and gentlemen taking part in the fair. Everything has been done to make the proceedings harmonise as much as possible with the character of an English fair of olden time, and those who have had the management of the matter have succeeded well so far in their undertaking. The costumes of the ladies and gentlemen give a picturesque look to the proceedings, and during the procession, which took place on the occasion of the opening ceremony, they added no small amount of attraction to the scene. There are several stalls, each of them being distinguished by an appropriate name, and in attendance at these are ladies dressed in the costumes mentioned above. The contents of the stalls are of a varied description, some of the articles being of an ornamental character alone, and others of a useful one, but altogether within the range of those things which are usually displayed for sale at bazaars of this description. They prove sufficiently tempting to many, and this fact, combined with the assiduous efforts of the lady stallholders to dispose of their goods, caused business to assume a rather brisk condition. So far the fair has received satisfactory support, and it is anticipated by its promoters that at the conclusion they will be able to show a good balance in hand. It was stated at the opening ceremony that the debt which at present existed on the church, school, and land amounted to a sum exceeding £3500, and considering that some handsome donations have been presented to the object, the result of the fair should be such that that amount will be lessened by a considerable sum. It is intended to keep the fair open for several days yet, both in the afternoon and evening.

RANDWICK ASYLUM.

On Easter Monday night an exhibition of dissolving views took place at the Randwick Asylum, in the presence of the children and a goodly number of visitors. Mr. Thomas Corbett, of Castlereagh-street, supervised the lantern arrangements, and supplemented the views at the asylum by a large number of others, representing many of the most important scenes in different parts of the world. As the pictures appeared on the canvas, Mr. Thomas, the superintendent, gave a brief explanation of them, which largely contributed to the enjoyment of all present. Following the appearance of continental views there appeared some of those which, as a rule, call forth almost deafening cheers from juveniles, and it was evident, from the hilarity of the little folks, that the entertainment was very much appreciated. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Middleton for donating the apparatus, and to Mr. Corbett for supervising the exhibition.

MATINEES MUSICALES.

That women are rapidly advancing to the front in the profession of music is now an acknowledged fact. Instances of their progress as pianists, violinists, and vocalists are numerous and frequent, and several hold good positions in the ranks of composers. This year, from 25 candidates for the blue ribbon of prizes to musical students in England, i.e., the Mendelssohn Scholarship, Miss Marie Wurm was selected as the winner; the competition was very keen, and Mr. J. G. Bennett, one candidate, displayed such marked ability that the examiners voted him a sum of money more than sufficient to defray a year's fees at the Academy. For some time Madame Charbonnet has been one of our musical stars; Miss Woolley has for years been prominent among the teachers of pianoforte, and within the last few years Signore Baraty and Fabris, and later Misses Gray and Pedley have in succession established themselves in Sydney as teachers in various branches of the art and science of music. To-day a new venture is to be inaugurated in a series of matinées musicales projected by Mme. Marius and Miss Eva Thompson, to be given in the New Masonic Hall, Castlereagh-street. One of the objects as stated in the prospectus "is to afford persons residing at a distance, and who cannot conveniently attend evening concerts, an opportunity of hearing really good music." In addition to the ladies named, "the best available talent will be obtained." Such an enterprise commends itself at once to the sympathetic support of the musical public. Our resources in artists and audiences are limited, and we cannot hope to reach the standard of the famous Monday popular concerts. This effort is, however, a firm step in the right direction, and we shall watch its progress with great interest. Many artists, permanently engaged in the evening, apart from concerts, are available in the afternoon, and opportunity will thus be afforded of introducing instrumental works of beauty and value to the young students in Sydney. We would advise the managers to aim at perfect rendering of the works attempted, and to remember that Mozart well played is greatly superior to Beethoven imperfectly interpreted. We must climb our musical ladder step by step. The first concert will commence at 3.30 this (Wednesday) afternoon.

IRONDALE.
THE NEW TOWNSHIP.
Adjoining the Wallerawang Coal Company's Colliery,
Intersected by the Mudgee Railway 4 miles from Wallerawang Junction.
SATURDAY, 26th April, at 1 p.m.

WATKIN and WATKIN sell by auction, on the Estate, as above,
Irondale, so named because it is the centre of the most favoured locality yet discovered in this colony, as far as the proximity of the necessary materials for ironmaking are concerned, viz.—ores, fuel, and flux.
Here, within a radius of 4 miles, are found iron ores of at least three varieties, coal and limestone, all of which can be won at a low cost.
The successful establishment of the Iron Industry here will give N. S. W. the lead of other Australian Colonies.
The Iron Industry has largely contributed to the pre-eminence of Great Britain over other nations; and, to quote the Thunderer,
"Iron and Coal are in their combination the sinews of industry and the master-key of trade."
The successful establishment of the Iron and Steel Industry in this colony cannot much longer be delayed, and the Auctioneers make bold to assert
That that Successful Establishment will be in the IMMEDIATE NEIGHBOURHOOD of IRONDALE.
Because, to repeat, nowhere else yet known in N. S. Wales are the materials necessary for Ironmaking so grouped together. Warned by the failures of the past, given sufficient capital and competent skill, and success is certain.
The Government, alive to the necessity of domiciling the IRON and STEEL INDUSTRY, have called for tenders for 150,000 TONS STEEL RAILS.
The Coal Industry is already established in this district.
The Colliery of the Wallerawang Coal Company immediately adjoins
IRONDALE.
This company secured the contract, some 50,000 tons, for locomotive purposes for the year 1884, and are now satisfactorily delivering the same.
The Lime works, two miles from Irondale, employ a large amount of labour.
So that altogether Irondale bids fair to become an industrial centre, such as New South Wales has not before seen.
The Site is a particularly suitable one for a township, as will be seen after five minutes' inspection.
The Subdivision has been carefully planned by Surveyor Weekes. Most of the streets are cleared; in fact, it is a subdivision which vendors, surveyors, and auctioneers need not be afraid of having criticised either before or after inspection.
With a view to the development of healthy Athletic Sports, the vendors have, with a spirit of liberality too rarely exhibited, given no less than EIGHT ACRES of the CHOICEST PART as an OVAL FOR RECREATION PURPOSES.
The Lots range up to areas of over THREE ACRES.
The TITLE is under TORRENS' ACT.
The TERMS are—
£5 per lot deposit, if balance paid within 21 days 10 per cent. discount.
£5 per lot deposit, balance by 24 equal monthly payments without interest.
Special Train leaves Redfern on Day of Sale. Return tickets, 10s.
The auctioneers' instructions are to sell, and the public may rely on this—
That every lot put up will be sold to the highest bidder.

JOHN BIGGAR has received instructions from the executors of the late Mr. William Spence to sell by auction, at Mrs. Osborne's Commercial Hotel, Wollongong, on the above date,
All that magnificent farm near the Fig Tree, containing 43 acres more or less of land (old measurement, but actually of much larger area), cleared and laid down in grass, subdivided into convenient sized paddocks, with never failing creek of water. The buildings comprise an 8-roomed weatherboard verandah cottage, with lawn and flower garden, dairy, stockyard, and milking sheds, barns, and out-houses; orchard of 1 acre, containing a choice variety of finest fruit trees in full bearing; gardener's cottage, &c.
The above is let at the low rental of £150 per annum, to tenant willing to remain at such rental.
The position of this property, with its long frontage to the Main South Coast Road, is one of great convenience, only a quarter hour's walk from Wollongong Railway Station, and adjacent to Post Office and Schools. Situated in the centre of a most improving neighbourhood, and yearly increasing in value, it offers to the speculator a rare field for investment and profit by future sub-dividing. The views from the estate are extremely beautiful, picturesque, and varied, and not surpassed in any part of Illawarra.
The occupiers of this fine property for the last 40 years have been thriving, prosperous, well-doing people, which is the best evidence of its value for farming pursuits. Grapes, oranges, pears, and other fruits thrive in greatest perfection.
The tenant's occupation of the 8-room cottage, garden, orchard, and a paddock of 16 acres expires in a few weeks; the remainder of the paddock in about 2 years.
Further particulars can be obtained from the Auctioneer, or from FRANCIS WOODWARD, Esq., Solicitor for the Estate, both of Wollongong.

ADVERTISEMENTS are classified as far as possible, for convenience of readers, but no guarantee is given that they shall appear under special headings.
While every care is exercised in regard to the due insertion of advertisements, the proprietors do not hold themselves responsible for non-insertion through accident or from other causes; and the proprietors reserve to themselves the right of omitting advertisements that they may deem objectionable, even although such advertisements may have been received and paid for in the usual course of business.
For the convenience of advertisers, replies to advertisements may be sent to the Herald Office; but the proprietors do not accept any responsibility in this respect.
Births, Deaths, and Marriages, 3s each insertion.
Notices of BIRTHS and DEATHS cannot be inserted in this Journal unless endorsed with the name and address of the person by whom they are sent.

 The above rule is rendered necessary in consequence of false and malicious notices having been sent for publication for the purpose of annoying respectable persons.
